Joy for St Hilary as...

A village lands top accolade!

by PHILIP IRWIN

PROPERTY experts from the Sunday Times have picked out the village of St Hilary as the "best village" in a list of the best places to live in the UK.

In the list, the newspaper's 'Bricks & Mortar' team also rank the village as No 5 in the 30 best places to live in the UK.

The top four are all sizeable towns, with Bath at No 1, Bakewell No 2, Leamington Spa No 3, and Leigh-on-Sea (Essex) in fourth spot.

The Bricks & Mortar team credit estate agents Knight Frank with St Hilary's top grade assessment, and they list the 12th Century church, active village hall, and the Bush Inn, with its thatched roof and Grade II listing status as highlights.

Its proximity to Cowbridge, and to Cowbridge Comprehensive, is cited as a reason, although listing Sir Anthony Hopkins as an old boy (he went to Cowbridge Grammar School) is going a long way back in time now.

The article says that just 260 people live in St Hilary, in 80 houses, and it says that the average house price (according to Zoopla) is £184, 169 – a figure that may surprise many Vale residents, who would have guessed at a higher figure.

St Hilary resident and regional AM, Andrew RT Davies, said he was "delighted to see such plaudits" being given to the village.

He said: "St Hilary has a unique charm and retains a wonderful community spirit. Something often said to have been lost from villages and towns in the UK.

"I may be biased as a lifelong resident, but I am nonetheless extremely proud and delighted to see such plaudits being given to the village.

"A showcase like this will do wonders for the town's reputation, and I'm sure that the owners of The Bush Inn will be extremely pleased to get nationwide recognition!"

Penarth had reason to celebrate too, coming in at No 26 in the list. It was praised for the number of parks, leading to its Victorian nickname, 'the garden by the sea'.

New opening times for the Cowbridge Library

CHANGES to library opening times (see full story on page 8) are on the way for Cowbridge.

The branch opening times will be reduced by 9.5 hours over the course of a week.

This will be done by opening at 10am rather than 9.30am on weekdays, and at 10am rather than 9am on Saturdays.

Closing times on weekdays will be 5pm, instead of 6pm, except on Wednesdays, when it will shut at 7pm rather than 8pm.

The final hour of time reduction will be achieved by closing on Saturdays at 4pm, rather than 5pm.

'So sad that your beautiful language causes such vitriol'

AN ENGLISH MAN'S VIEW FROM ACROSS THE BORDER

AS an English man, living in Kent, who has learnt Welsh as a second language, I was astounded to find that I'm a Welsh Nationalist who votes Plaid Cymru – according to a letter written by Peter Reed of Barry last week in your online edition.

Well, I'm not and my many dear Welsh-speaking friends throughout Wales aren't either.

They are people of many varying political opinions.

It saddens me that your beautiful language and its culture can cause so much vitriol in your Principality.

Most visitors to Wales see the language as a positive plus and would not be disturbed by the languages profile being highly visible throughout Wales.

Personally, I would love everyone to be bilingual in your beautiful land: but that's up to you to decide.

Cymru Am Byth!

Kim Erswell, Gillingham.

'Bypass better than a school'

I WISH I could share the moral certainty of some of the previous posters to this newspaper about the Welsh language.

I've noticed a tendency by some to believe so fervently in the language that any opposition to it from any quarter is deemed as being anti-Welsh.

That's a terrible mistake. To shout people down because they have a different view about the relative importance of the Welsh language in Welsh society is wrong.

The Welsh language is not a state religion. Some of us don't necessarily believe in it. Being Welsh is not the same as speaking Welsh.

I live in a world where most people speak English and will continue to do so because they choose to.

The WAG can spend as much money as they want supporting the Welsh language, but that fact is not going to change.

There is a cost that we all pay in supporting the Welsh language. That can be an opportunity cost, such as one to a child who is forced to expend a valuable GCSE learning a subject he/she has no talent or interest in. Or there is a financial cost.

There is a whole Welsh language industry out there being supported by public funds, from TV stations to legions of public sector jobs.

In this time of austerity, it surely can't be wrong to question how valuable public resources are spent?

What if some of that money was instead directed towards projects which both language communities could use, like schools or transport or hospitals?

Personally I'd prefer a Dinas Powys bypass to another Welsh school in Barry, but apparently making that choice would make me anti-Welsh.

David Bevan, Barry.

IT'S all very well Flybe announcing new routes this year from Cardiff Airport and being supported by the Welsh Government, but City Jet came last year and pulled out of the Jersey flights this summer; oh, and the £450,000 a year empty bus (T9) is still running.

Newcomers from London find Cowbridge charming

...'but more houses in the town may spoil this... they should be built in Barry'

HAVING read many letters regarding housing development at Cowbridge, in particular Darren Farm, you may be interested in our thoughts as relatively new residents.

My wife and I retired to Cowbridge three years ago; we are both in our late 40s, having worked in London. We have a lovely home here and are also trying to be involved with the community, having purchased and refurbished two houses for letting.

We find the town charming; we particularly like the high street on Sundays just to meander and occasionally window shop when the retail premises are closed.

To stroll the lanes in the Vale of Glamorgan, especially during the winter, when you can see through the hedgerows, is a joy. We often just lean on a gate and gaze at the beauty of the scenery – actually, we are keen to take an art course and join an art society.

We feel more houses may spoil this and agree with Councillors Cox and Hunter Jarvie that the new housing should be built at Barry.

However, we are a little uncertain about proposed development at Llandow, having experience of a similar London satellite enlargement that gave isolation, lack of vitality and consequently reduced retention of property price.

To Mr Homfray, we also ask – please don't build!

David and Lisa Giles Betts, Cowbridge.

DREAM TIME?

IN reply to Christopher Williams (The GEM, March 5), Germany relies on wind energy for 20 percent of its electricity.

Each year, Germany imports 20 percent of its electricity from French nuclear power stations and is building 30 new coal fired power stations. Wind energy is for dreamers (and public employees!)

Ken Bowen, Newport.

Simple answer for Post Office

ALTHOUGH I have commented before on the ludicrous situation of a town the size of Cowbridge not having a post office for almost a year, I feel compelled to comment again, this time in response to the article in The GEM on March 5, about Cowbridge businessman Sam Smith being reminded (warned?) by Royal Mail that he must ensure his franked mail is posted at his local Post Office.

Is the person concerned even aware that Cowbridge no longer has a post office and that there is just ONE visible pillar box in the whole town?

The problem faced by the numerous businesses in Cardiff could be solved quite easily.

When I worked for an international airline in Frankfurt, Germany in the '80s and '90s, franked company mail could be put in large red envelopes – supplied free of charge by the German post office authority – and then dropped in any Deutsche Post letterbox.

That way, it was already separated from regular stamped mail.

Maybe someone ought to suggest that to Royal Mail, so that they find a way to make life easier for residents of Cowbridge, rather than sending out inexpedient top-down orders.

Cristel E John, Corntown.

POLICE AND THE MINERS

AS a senior police officer in the South Wales Police force during the miners' strike, I was appalled at the disgraceful statement made by the leader of Plaid Cymru, Leanne Wood, in the Sunday Times of March 1 that, "I always thought the police were there to protect the public, but the miners' strike changed that."

I should like to know on what evidence her thoughts are based, as during the strike, I took a contingent of officers to the coal processing plant at Abercwmboi, where we upheld the law allowing miners to strike and protest, but also provided protection to those who invoked their human right to work, as some miners did.

Police officers, some of whom were injured, were there to protect the individuals' rights and freedoms no matter what their view, a fundamental democratic principle.

I, for one, will be interested to hear how, according to Ms Wood, the role of the police in protecting the public has, therefore, been changed.

Coun KJ Watts, Newton (Police Superintendent Rtd, Welsh Conservative).

'Give up smoking with our help'

FOLLOWING No Smoking Day March 11, Tenovus Cancer Care would like to encourage any of your readers who would like advice or support on how to stop smoking, to 'Quit with Us'.

Quitting smoking is one of the hardest things anyone can do, and we know it's not a habit that's easy to stop overnight. However, it's a sad fact that more people in Wales die from lung cancer than any other cancer.

That's why anyone who would like a helping hand to quit. can go along to their local Tenovus Cancer Care shop, where fully trained staff and volunteers will be on hand to offer support and advice on how to stop.

You can also call our free Support Line on 0808 808 1010, open 365 days a year.

We know it's really difficult, but if you'd like to quit we're all behind you.

Claudia McVie,
Chief Executive, Tenovus Cancer Care,

'Don't blame the townsfolk'

AS a regular reader and contributor to your newspaper and of 'Readers' Letters', I find on page 20 of The GEM on Thursday, March 5, two very controversial letters, which serve to further divide rural and urban communities.

The first was by Peter Reed of Barry ('Welsh speakers almost certainly Nationalists'). While making some very good points, which I agree with him on, it is wrong to say Welsh speakers are almost certainly nationalists and vote for Plaid Cymru.

In my family. I have Welsh speakers and I have friends and colleagues who are Welsh speakers, who I certainly know do not vote for Plaid Cymru.

On the other hand, also on page 20, I find a letter from Hywel Moelwyn Davies more controversial and confusing. To say that "Barry folk have made a mess of their town, so why visit their incompetence on us," is an appalling statement and is more deserving of The GEM's distancing footnote to Mr Reed's letter.

It's incredulous to me that Mr Davies does not seem to realise that during most of the four decades he says it has taken to establish Cowbridge, it is the former Vale of Glamorgan Borough Council (which is now the Vale County Borough Council) that had responsibility for investment and the development of both Cowbridge and Barry.

If anything, it is the officers of the authority and the successive administrations of councillors that have caused the demise of Barry, and not the townsfolk.

Mr K Lewis, Barry.

'Plan IS working'

MR G SMITH of Llantwit Major seems to be a permanent feature in The GEM letters page with his consistently negative sniping at our local MP.

He tries to paint a picture of doom and gloom in the Vale, laying the blame squarely on Conservatives in Westminster.

Here are some facts for Mr Smith: unemployment in the Vale is down from 5.8 per cent at the last election to 2.9 per cent now and over 38,000 local people have had their income tax cut. Inflation is at a record low and wages are rising.

Wales' economy is growing faster than any other part of the UK and creating thousands of new jobs - no mean feat considering the UK is now the fastest growing major advanced economy in the world!

The Conservative 'long-term economic plan' that he sneers at is working, and every day I see people from all walks of life benefiting.

L J Ware (former chair Barry Conservatives),

(UNTIL MARCH 19)

The high tides listed in this week's GEM are those in Porthcawl. It should be remembered that along the coast, high tide times will vary. For instance, in Barry, the high point will be 20 – 25 minutes later.

DATE	Time AM	Ht M	Time PM	Ht M
12 Thur	09.59	8.7	22.22	8.5
13 Fri	10.43	8.3	23.15	8.1

18 Wed	04.27	9.2	16.57	9.4
19 Thur	05.22	9.9	17.49	10.1

While The GEM makes every effort to check the accuracy of tide tables, we recommend that anyone putting out to sea, or walking in an area where they could be cut off, should check with a tide table specific to their location.

We abide by the code of practice upheld by the Independent Press Standards Organisation (IPSO). This contains provisions for issues such as accuracy.

If you have a complaint, write to us at the address below, left, or call editorial manager Don John on 01446 774484. All complaints will be fully investigated. COMMONWEALTH FLAG FLIES OVER COWBRIDGE (BUT FOR ONLY ONE DAY!)

AN unusual ritual was observed in Cowbridge on Monday (March 9), when the Commonwealth flag was flown at the town hall.

However, it was a brief appearance, as the flag was taken down 24 hours later. It was flown to celebrate Commonwealth Day, but the Mayor of Cowbridge with Llanblethian, Coun Peter Knapp, told the GEM that he would have been happy to see it flown for a while.

He said that it was flown for the first time last year, presumably because Glasgow was hosting the Commonwealth Games.

He told The GEM: "There are many countries thoughout the Commonwealth who are doing exactly the same ceremony. In fact, the mayoress, my wife Jo, is in Belize at the moment, where she has family, and they are raising the flag there!"

The flag is unfurled.

Church moves stone statues – to free up space for community

Report by PHILIP IRWIN

ABOVE: The Elizabethan lady, thought to have died in childbirth.

THREE stone effigies have been brought together into the north aisle of the East Church at St Illtud's in Llantwit Major – marking one of the final stages in the Galilee Chapel Project.

The stone effigies were moved last month, freeing up more floor space in the West Church for church and community use.

Two were moved from the West Church and the third from near the pulpit in the East Church.

The oldest is a semi-effigial slab, i.e., only the head is visible. The carving is of a man, presumably a priest.

Could he be a monk from the Benedictine grange on the hill overlooking the church?

Perhaps not, because the inscription on the base has been translated as, "Let not the stone be trodden on; let her who lies beneath be protected".

What is also unusual is three bands of Celtic carving in the stone.

The second is a coffin-shaped sepulchral slab of a layman, dressed in a long buttoned tunic, with a fur collar, holding a glove in his left hand.

It dates from the fourteenth century, and may have been a merchant or a manorial official.

The third effigy is of an Elizabethan lady, wearing what was then high fashion at court towards the end of the reign of Queen Elizabeth I, an elaborate embroidered gown in Venetian style.

At her head is an infant, indicating that she died in childbirth. She is thought to be Joan, the wife of Richard Hopkins, the bailiff of the manor around 1580.

Part of the Heritage plan for the church is to open out the West Church for wider community and church use, with improved disabled access and welcoming facilities.

THIRTY-ONE year-6 pupils from local primary schools joined the art department at Cowbridge Comprehensive School for a "wonderful experience" last week.

The youngsters were totally absorbed in their task – to create a stunning piece of artwork in just 1 ½ hours, a spokeswoman reports.

They had to observe the form and tone of a tulip from real life, and transfer their observations to tearing prepared painted paper, using collage techniques to create their own interpretations of their flower.

Mrs Clare Parry, head of art gave a short demonstration on how to use acrylic paints successfully, mixing them on the cartridge paper instead of the palette!

Each pupil was then given a sheet of paper to draw their tulip from observation using pencil. The next task was to tear the painted paper into the shape of the tulip, making individual petals, stalks and leaves and glue them together to create a wonderful collaged flower.

They were very excited when they placed their creations onto a prepared piece of background paper, and signed their efforts proudly.

A big thank you to Kate Champion, Eliza Smith and Carrie-Ann Sutton, our year-13 art students, who helped out with the pupils and prepared the background for the project and to Mrs Lewis, our art technician, for helping out and gluing down their efforts.

The art department would also like to thank Mrs. Gibbon, Vale Transition Officer, who seemed to enjoy the session as much as the students and Tom Trotman, year-12 art and photography student who took the photographs.

Alice tackles marathon after cancer treatment

A ST ATHAN cancer survivor is rising to one of the UK's biggest sporting challenges just months after completing chemotherapy following her second cancer diagnosis.

Alice Roythorne (38(, will be taking part in this year's Virgin Money London Marathon (VMLM) on Sunday, April 26 for Cancer Research UK – the event's official charity partner.

She is raising funds to help beat cancer sooner and is encouraging anyone who already has a place in the prestigious event to unite with her in the fight against the disease by joining Cancer Research UK's running team.

Mum of one Alice, who works in Cardiff, hopes that together, they will raise as much money as possible for life-saving research to help more people survive and has also made a special video to show her reasons for tackling the challenge: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AHImHeeznLo.

She said: "Cancer Research UK is very close to my heart. I was shocked and devastated when I was diagnosed with cancer but, thanks to research, I am still here today.

"By raising money through the Virgin Money London Marathon, I want to help the charity ensure more people, like me, are treated successfully."

Alice initially found out she had Hodgkin's Lymphoma while she was pregnant in 2003. Her sister Heather and father Alan have both been diagnosed with different forms of the disease too.

Alice, whose daughter Macie is now 10, was nearing 10 years free from cancer when she was rediagnosed in 2013 and started a year of treatment for Ewing's sarcoma.

In 2003, she had gone to the doctor with a lump on her neck and was sent for further tests. She and her partner John had been trying for a baby in the previous months and found out she was pregnant just days before the biopsy result.

"They only asked me once what I wanted to do about the baby. Once I told them, they were fantastic and did everything they could to help both of us," she said.

Alice had another scan just before Christmas and underwent three months of radiotherapy on her neck, during which she wore a lead apron to protect the baby. Macie was born in the summer of 2004 and Alice went on to have more treatment.

Alice explained: "Six weeks after Macie was born, I started chemotherapy. Coping with the demands of a newborn baby and undergoing chemotherapy was not easy but my family were a great help."

When she was rediagnosed in 2013, it was a real shock.

She said: "It took a long time to be diagnosed the second time – it is rare for adults to be diagnosed with Ewing's sarcoma and they did a lot of tests. I had to have an urgent hysterectomy followed by 14 cycles of chemo over 10 months and five weeks of radiotherapy.

"I finished treatment in February 2014 – it had been an exhausting year but I have always liked doing challenges and did the Race for Life Pretty Muddy event in the summer, followed by the Welsh Three Peaks later in the year.

"But it has been a huge step to sign up to the Virgin Money London Marathon.I am delighted to be part of it but the training has been tough – I have already had to run further than I have ever run before.

"It's so motivating to know that the money I raise is helping to bring forward the day when all cancers are cured. I can't wait to get to the start line and I am counting down to the big day."

A field of over 40,000 competitors, including serious and fun runners, are expected to take part in the 2015 Virgin Money London Marathon.

As official charity partner for the event, Cancer Research UK is hoping to recruit its biggest team ever and raise around £2.5 million.

For more information on Cancer Research UK's running events, visit: www.cruk.org/support-us/find-an-event or to join the charity's Virgin Money London Marathon team, visit: cruk.org/marathon.

Congregation says farewell to Canon Derek Belcher...

Among the congregation were the Mayor of Cowbridge with Llanblethian, Coun Peter Knapp, regional AM Andrew RT Davies, and Vale MP Alun Cairns.

This traditional fare was followed by a fascinating talk entitled 'Life Behind The Camera' given by Mr Don Llewellyn, who told us about his time as a film producer and director with a well-known television company.

We learned that his career had taken him all over the world and he had met many famous personalities. We are looking forward to Mr Llewellyn's return visit to us in June when his subject will be 'The Llandow Air Disaster'. At our next meeting, Mrs Pam Miles will tell us about Carnival Glass.

This month, several members are taking part in the Glamorgan Federation of WIs' service at Llandaff Cathedral.

It will be commemorating the centenary of the formation of the WI in Wales, England and the Channel Islands.

EAGLESWELL CELEBRATES ST DAVID'S DAY IN STYLE!

ON Monday, March 3 year-3 pupils were lucky enough to be invited to spend the afternoon at Llantwit Major library.

This in itself is a treat as the children thoroughly enjoy choosing their own books. However, there was an extra special surprise in store. As part of St David's Day (March 1) and to coincide with World Book Day (March 5), author Wendy White was there too.

Wendy has had two books published: Welsh Cakes And Custard, which won the Tir na n-Og award in 2014, and her latest, Three Cheers For Wales.

She told the pupils that she wanted to work in a library from a very early age. She also wanted to be a teacher. Both of these early ambitions were achieved. She answered lots of questions and read extracts from her books.

Three lucky pupils were chosen to act out part of the story, involving Emyr Rhys, Tad-cu and Mam-gu. It involved baking Welsh cakes and making a lot of mess!

The afternoon culminated in the pupils enjoying some Welsh cakes, not made by Tad-cu nor Emyr Rhys. Our thanks go to Wendy White for a fantastic afternoon, and to Kathy and all the staff at Llantwit Major library. Diolch yn fawr iawn!

Eagleswell's eisteddfod extravaganza

ON Friday, March 6 Eagleswell Primary School held its annual eisteddfod, when pupils dressed up in traditional costume, Welsh rugby jerseys and an array of uniforms from Brownies, Cub Scouts amongst many others.

The afternoon's proceedings commenced by singing Mae ganddo byd mawr yn Ei lawr, a Welsh version of He's got the whole world in His hands. Other traditional songs such as Sosban Fach and Calon Lân were sung as if the Millennium Stadium crowd was in full voice!

Art competitions ranged from year-3's dragon interpretations, year-4/5's drawings of Llantwit Major's older buildings such as the town hall and the Old Swan, and year 5/6's charcoal sketches of a rugby ball. Other competitions were held for handwriting and poetry.

Musicians showed off their skill and talent on both piano and violin. Recitations in Welsh about the rain, 'Glaw', 'Siopa gyda Dad' and Myd i'r Dre, showcased the pupils' ability in pronunciation, fluency and expression.

The most anticipated moment of the afternoon was the Chairing of the Bard. This is where year-6 pupils have to write a poem about Wales. All entries are under pen names, so the judge, Mrs Jacobs, our acting Headteacher, had no idea who had written them.

The eventual winner was Sean Pinch, who was shocked but very proud of his achievement. Mrs Jacobs commented that reading Sean's poem had reminded her of a visit to Big Pit in Blaenafon.

Sean was presented with a shield and the honour of being the last of a long line of eisteddfod bards here at Eagleswell Primary School.

The afternoon was rounded off with the singing of the National Anthem. A fitting way to celebrate Dyudd Gwŷl Dewi! GB

Welsh Mines by Sean Pinch

While picks clash against the dusty rocks.
Tunnels shook repeatedly like earthquakes,
Dangerously jagged rocks stick out
Like razor sharp teeth ready to claim their victim.
The elevator is like a yo-yo up and down,
Everyday shaking, screeching.
A yo-yo of journeys, travelling
To the depths of Wales.

Gwynfor wins chair at Ysgol Llanhari School eisteddfod!

FOR the third year running, budding poet Gwynfor Dafydd from year-12, won the chair competition at the recent school eisteddfod.

He was awarded a personalised chair crafted by Mr Alun Evans from the Technology department and it was a pleasure to welcome pupils from the foundation phase who performed a traditional Welsh folk dance to honour the chaired bard. The chairing of the bard ceremony was the climax of an exciting and hotly-contested day of competition between the three houses Aran, Hari and Trisant.

Aran were the eventual victors by a very small margin, despite the fact that Trisant won the important choir competition.

Congratulations to all the pupils and staff and we are already looking forward to competing again in 2016! MT

Book Festival hands charities £2,600 boost

Trustees of the Cowbridge Book Festival announced this week that with just five events in 2014, it raised £2,600 and the proceeds have been divided equally between Leukaemia and Lymphoma Research and The Noah's Ark Appeal at the Children's Hospital of Wales.

This achievement would not have been possible without the support of authors Rosie Thomas, Chris Bryant, Gareth Thomas, Michael Calvin, Katie Fforde and Jo Thomas, and also local TV presenter Lucy Owen, who all gave so generously of their time.

A great team of volunteers, 'welcomers' and introducers ensured the smooth running of events and provided refreshments, local businesses supported by advertising in the festival flyers and TicketlineUK, Barnes Dry Cleaners and Nicklby's Book Shop were responsible for ticket distribution.

As usual, the festival is indebted to our great local newspaper The GEM and in particular Tim Chapman whose advice and support is always appreciated. And, last but not least our thanks go to all the 'book worms' who came to some wonderful talks and enjoyed interacting with the authors.

For those of you who like a challenge, entries are now being accepted for the Cowbridge Book Festival 2015 Creative Writing Competition. The aim of the competition is to stimulate an interest in and reward good creative writing.

The task is to write either a short story or a one-act play on a theme of your choice – maximum number of words 1,500.

There are cash prizes to be won – so don't delay, put pen to paper and have a go! For competition details and all festival information, please visit our website @www.cowbridgebookfestival.co.uk.

Enquiries about the competition to vivienne.charlton@btinternet.com.

Once again, the competition will be sponsored by Archytas Strategic Planning. SRC

Local Lions organise free Diabetes tests

THE Llantwit Major and Cowbridge Lions have a busy spring programme planned in Cowbridge this year.

On Saturday, March 21 they will be holding two events: free Diabetes screening and a second-hand book sale; then on Bank Holiday, May 4 there will be the Cowbridge May Fair.

The free Diabetes screening will be in the Lesser Hall from 10am to 12 noon and the simple pin prick tests are done by specialist nurses..

Type 2 Diabetes is becoming more and more common and the symptoms can be difficult to spot. If you are overweight or over 40 you should be checked. Even if you feel healthy, you may have a higher than normal blood glucose level (pre-diabetes) and be at risk of getting the condition.

Approximately a quarter of people with type 2 Diabetes have the condition but are unaware of it.

The second-hand book sale will be held outside Caffé Nero in the entrance to Waitrose car park from 10am to 4pm. The primary purpose of the sale is to raise funds for the charitable work of Lions but also to raise awareness of the Cowbridge May Fair.

The Cowbridge May Fair will be held on the Bear Field on Bank Holiday Monday, May 4. Planning for the event is well advanced and the format will be similar to the very successful May Fair in 2013.

To find out more about Lions or donate books or take part in the May Fair telephone 08458 336763, e-mail: info@lmandclions.org.uk or Web: www.lmandclions.org.uk or Facebook: www.facebook.com/lmandclions or Twitter:@lmandclions.

Clearing up the horse poo

IN reply to Robert Evans' question (GEM letters, last week) about horse riders picking up horse poo – as far as I know, there is no obligation for the rider to do so.

While it is a nuisance to find horse poo outside your house on the pavement, the practicalities of the rider dismounting – and holding onto a large animal who may be nervous (as often is the case when the horse poos in a narrow lane), to clean up is largely impractical and dangerous to the rider and oncoming traffic.

It would be lovely if riders could solely use bridle paths and fields for riding; however, again this is impractical, as they will always need to use a road to reach a bridle path.

I agree, however, that horses should not be ridden on the pavements as apart from anything else, it is safer to have that space on the left of the rider, if the horse should jump or spook sideways.

I would imagine also that city horses do not get much opportunity for cantering and galloping when bridle paths can be used, and this could prove frightening for a horse with a collection bag attached.

TRACTOR BOYS OF ABERTHIN DEFY RAIN TO RAISE £850 FOR MS CHARITY

THE Tractor boys of Aberthin, in association with the Blacksmiths Arms, Llanmaes, have raised £850 following a recent tractor run, and all proceeds from the run will be presented to the Multiple Sclerosis charity.

Around 30 tractors braved the elements and left Arthur John's yard in Cowbridge at around 10.30am on a wet Sunday morning. Led by route master Martyn Huish, the procession headed for Primrose Hill and the Old Roman road before crossing the A48 and travelling through Pant Wilkin Farm and Pwll-y-Darren Farm, and then onto Welsh St Donats.

The route took the tractors down Watery Lane, crossing Aberthin Road through Newton and on to Llansannor, before crossing through Penllyn estate. The tractors emerged onto the Moorland Road and headed towards Penllyn.

The convoy crossed the Llangarn-Pencoed road and entered the very muddy Twmpath lane, before emerging on the A48 and heading for Colwinston.

Here a welcome comfort break was taken at the Sycamore Tree Inn, where the cold and wet drivers had some shelter from the elements, and had a chance to regain some body temperature and feeling in their hands and feet!

On leaving the Sycamore, the weather, much to everyone's relief, had improved considerably. The tractors headed for Corntown, passing through Ewenny and climbed over Heol-y-Mynydd passing Norton Farm before taking the lane back to St Brides Major.

The convoy passed the Fox and Hounds and took a right hand turn towards Castle-Upon-Alun, before heading on to Wick. The final part of the journey saw the tractors take the coast road from Monknash past St Donats Castle, through Llantwit Major, and over to The Blacksmith's Arms in Llanmaes.

Here refreshments and food were provided by our hosts, Mike and Jackie, who generously presented £150 to the fund raising event.

A further £150 was raised by a raffle and the highlight of the day was the auction of two halves of lamb, donated by Mr Sam Beach.

The successful bid for the first half of lamb at £50 came from Mike, our host. The second auction saw some keen bidding, with Martyn Huish narrowly missing out to a winning bid of £80, again from Mike. I guess lamb is on the menu at the Blacksmith's for Mothering Sunday!

The worthy benefactors of this fund raising event are the Multiple Sclerosis charity and presentation of the cheque to a representative will be made at the Blacksmiths Arms over the next few weeks.

Many thanks to The Blacksmiths Arms for their hospitality, the John family for the use of their yard, the England family and Penllyn estate, for allowing us to pass through their farms, Sam Beach for providing the lamb and to all those Tractor Boys who took part and helped make the day such a great success.

Pupils bury a time capsule of school life

THE school council at Ysgol Gymraeg Dewi Sant in Llantwit Major, recently visited the site of the new school and buried a time capsule under the floor of the reception area.

Rob Boyd and Howard Davies from ISG showed them the site, and also the special area created to hold the box.

Although the school council was responsible for burying the capsule, all the pupils helped choose the contents.

Miss Sajko, who leads the school council, explained: "One of the children wrote a bilingual letter explaining the reasons for burying the box and the other items included letters and stories written in Welsh by the pupils, paintings, pieces of duplo, a reading book and photographs of the different activities that the children have undertaken this year.

There was also a CD of the children performing songs on St David's Day and a photograph of all pupils standing outside the present school, although they could not all fit in to one photograph so we had to take two!

The school council were also joined by the head teacher Helen Jennings and Coun Mason, governor for the school council.

The new school building is due to open in September and the existing buildings will be dismantled and reused by other schools in the Vale.

PENDOYLAN PUPILS CELEBRATE ST DAVID'S DAY IN TRADITIONAL STYLE

A school spokesman said: "Our congratulations go to the Yellow House for winning the 2015 Eisteddfod.

"It was the closest it has been for a very long time and we thank every pupil and parent who helped to make it such a 'bendigedig' day.

The home competition entries were wonderful and the standard of work done in school, plus the recital and song performances, impressed us all.

"We're so lucky to have such a talented lot! In particular, congratulations go to our creative writing competition winner, and this year's bard, Alys, who took the coveted annual Chair".

Report by PHILIP IRWIN

A ST ATHAN mother is appealing to road users to drive carefully near horses, after her 16-year-old daughter suffered a broken ankle when her horse was frightened by a motorcyclist.

Sally-Anne Brewer said that the rider had watched as her daughter, Charlie, was thrown from the horse, and had then ridden off.

Sally-Anne told The GEM: "It happened on Friday, February 27, about 5.10pm, at New Barn, near the Eglwys Brewis turn.

"Charlie was out riding her horse, Sali Mali, with a family friend, when the rider – he was either on a moped or a small motorcycle – went past them at speed.

"Both horses were startled, reared up and then galloped off. Her friend stayed on, but Charlie was thrown off, breaking her ankle.

"She lay in the road, and was lucky that the next vehicle along saw her, stopped to protect her. and phoned for an ambulance"

Mrs Brewer was full of praise for local people who came to help. She said: "A passing doctor stopped to help. Unfortunately, I was not given his name.

"Also, Karen Williams, who is a nurse, lives nearby and she came out to help Charlie."

Her friend returned as soon as she managed to get her horse under control, Sally-Anne was informed and managed to get to the scene by 5.40pm.

Charlie's horse, Sali Mali, made her own way home once she had stopped galloping.

Sally-Anne told The GEM that motorists and motorcyclists needed to be sensible around horses, and be aware of what could happen if they drive too fast.

As far as the incident that led to Charlie's broken ankle is concerned, Sally-Anne would welcome any information, and her phone number is 07780 456934.

Plans to 'reshape' library services in the Vale get council green light

by GEM STAFF

VALE COUNCIL plans to trim more than £400,000 from the budget for libraries were approved on Monday (March 9) at a meeting of the cabinet.

Opening hours are to change and community groups are being invited to submit "expressions of interest" in running libraries in Dinas Powys, Rhoose, St Athan, Wenvoe and Sully.

A Vale Council statement said that this followed Vale residents' endorsement of the strategy to "reshape" library services.

From June 1, opening hours at Barry, Cowbridge, Llantwit Major and Penarth libraries will be reduced by a total of 41 hours each week by adjusting opening and closing times.

The libraries will continue to open for at least one evening a week as those who responded to the consultation requested.

Coun Stuart Egan, cabinet member for adult services, said: "The consultation made it very clear that people in the Vale are passionate about their library service".

Residents interested in developing a community led library will have until May 18 to come forward and begin working with the council to develop a viable business plan. The council then aims to have community libraries in Dinas Powys, Rhoose, St Athan, Wenvoe and Sully up and running by spring 2016.

Coun Egan said: "Over the past months we have spoken to a number of groups willing to help us maintain the current number of libraries in the county. We believe there are more people out there who would like to contribute and we are asking them to come forward. The unprecedented financial pressures that we are currently facing mean that we simply cannot continue to provide services in the same way. We do not want to see libraries in the Vale close but the status-quo is not an option".

However, there was opposition from a number of areas. Before the cabinet meeting UNISON, which represents library staff, handed in a petition opposed to the plans. In a press statement, UNISON gave the number of signatories as "thousands".

Gillian Southby, UNISON libraries representative in the Vale, said: "We've been overwhelmed by the number of people across the Vale who have signed the petition to save library services.

"Libraries are far more than just a book loaning service these days. They provide internet access for many people who otherwise wouldn't have online access, they provide educational support across all ages, and many libraries facilitate local community groups to run activities.

"The council has been trying to assure people that they will still have access to high quality library services, but unfortunately we cannot see how they can deliver on this promise.

FUNDING

"Services such as these cannot be run by volunteer groups – it would simply fall apart. The residents of the Vale deserve to have an efficient and professionally-run library service and that can only be achieved through appropriate funding and staffing".

Vale MP Alun Cairns described the consultation process as "flawed" and criticised the council for not giving enough consideration to the role that libraries play in child literacy and learning.

He said: "I am very disappointed that this decision has been made by the Vale Council. Financial settlements are getting tougher, but the local authority has chosen not to shelter council tax payers from a 3.9 per cent rise and still has a very substantial budget to deliver services.

" I am concerned that the role of a local library is simply being downgraded in many communities across the Vale. When I was young, the library played such an important role in my own learning, and asking volunteers to complete business plans does not help a youngster who may not have access to shelves of books at home."

Mr Cairns has been approached by campaigners in Rhoose, and the ward representative there, Coun Jeff James, said: "Rhoose Ward has a population of over 7,000, making it one of the largest communities in the Vale, with only the Towns of Barry, Penarth and Llantwit Major having a greater population.

"Rhoose has grown steadily over the past 30 years but over that period the library has continued to be identified as a small rural l, but this description has not kept pace with growth and demand.

"It would be misleading, therefore, to think that Rhoose is a small rural village and that the library is little used, such as the other libraries considered in the library strategy. The reality is that Rhoose Library is the most used of those being considered for downgrading from professional to volunteer run.

"Since the installation of computers for public use, the number of older people and children using the library has increased dramatically. Rhws School supports the library and pupils gain access between the two buildings without going outside to the road or pavement.

"Rhws School has objected to the proposed downgrading of the library from professional to volunteer run".

Coun James went on to point out that another 700 homes are likely to be built in Rhoose, assuming the proposals are granted planning permission.

The Vale Council says the introduction of community led libraries is one of a number of changes to the service in the Vale needed to help it meet its £25million savings target for the next three years.

The establishment of community libraries is projected to save the council £187,000 while the reduction in opening hours at the larger facilities is due to save £256,000.

The consultation, to which 1,210 responses were received, also addressed the issue of moving St Athan library to another site in the village. Further discussion of this issue will now take place with any party expressing an interest in establishing a community library in the area.

Plaid 'alternative budget to save libaries' voted down

A SUGGESTED alternative budget by Plaid Cymru to "save the Vale's library services from cuts" was defeated at the council's budget-setting meeting last week.

"Plaid Cymru's 'budget' included a 2.8 per cent council tax rise – compared with Labour's 3.9 per cent hike – but included the removal of controversial plans to cut library opening hours and create volunteer-run libraries in Dinas Powys, Rhoose, Wenvoe, St Athan and Sully," said Plaid councillor Ian Johnson.

He stated that the council was in a healthier financial position than neighbouring authorities, such as Cardiff, and that Vale residents shouldn't be punished for poor government in Westminster by losing services and eye-watering council tax rises.

"We know that Wales is under-funded by £1.2 billion when compared to Scotland and that the Vale's budget has been cut sharply by the Welsh Government in the past two years," he said.

"However, the Vale has been consistent in over-collecting council tax and under-spending its budget. Last year, there was a positive difference of £5 million and this year £3.6 million. On top of that, we have tens of millions of pounds in reserves."

Plaid Cymru believed there is "more than enough money to maintain services such as the Vale libraries," and was disappointed all the other parties opposed the amendment, he added.

Challenge to return Island to former glory

VALE MP ALUN CAIRNS reports to GEM readers

WE will soon know whether visitors from all over the United Kingdom visiting Barry Island this summer will be looking at a shabby derelict site or a top class fairground beginning to take shape.

The Barry Island fairground project has become the symbolic feature in Barry during the re-invigoration of the largest town in Wales.

The prospect of seeing many millions of pounds being invested in Barry, and more importantly industry expertise come to the Island is incredibly exciting.

For many months, I have done all I can to encourage the project along, and seen a great deal of effort put in by all parties.

I have yet to meet a local resident that doesn't want to see the fairground site transformed into a site that can generate positive interest in the town.

It has been a very complicated project to bring together, but the end is now in sight and I am just hopeful that common-sense can prevail, along with a sense of ambition for Barry Island. And what a shot in the arm it would be for the local economy?

The businesses in Barry can share in the success of a new fairground, and I am certain that many new job opportunities will be created. I would recommend youngsters to grab an opportunity of working on a high quality fairground – the people skills that youngsters can gain are endless, and those same skills can be then used in any future career.

I invited Henry Danter, the showman hoping to run the attraction, to meet the Prime Minister and Chancellor of the Exchequer recently to explain his plans. It was a very positive meeting. Just like the meeting held with FocusBarry group recently, Mr Danter showed so much passion for Barry and told us how his entire family are supporting the project.

David Cameron and George Osborne both listened to the plans with great interest, and wished him good luck with getting the project off the ground.

They have seen how other coastal towns like Brighton have been re-invigorated, and what a difference an operator with drive and ambition can make – that is what I want for Barry and the Vale of Glamorgan.

I have visited a number of schools recently and the number one question from pupils has been about the Pleasure Park. The next generation setting out in their career are interested in jobs or starting businesses, and understanding how we can return Barry Island to the place that their parents remember.

We are close to securing that. It has been a difficult process but with the right people involved, it can be done.

The views at Barry Island take my breath away every time, and I hope the summer of 2015 can be one of the busiest in decades. It would be wonderful.

Row over 3G pitches rumbles on after a 'no show' meeting

SPORTS coaches in the Vale who are opposing Vale Council plans to provide 3G pitches at Jenner Park, Barry, were "disgusted" when no cabinet member attended a meeting called to discuss the issue, writes PHILIP IRWIN.

Coaches from mini-football and athletics are opposed to the plan. Athletics because they fear that the Jenner Park athletics facilities could be lost, and mini football because coaches believe that it will become a Barry Town only facility.

They want the pitches built at somewhere like Colcot, where a range of clubs could book the pitches.

Spokesman Lee Saunders told The GEM: "We invited all cabinet members to the meeting on Friday, May, 6, but not one turned up and only Gwyn John confirmed he would not be attending.

"The reason for the meeting was to highlight our fears for mini football and athletics, and to address the lack of communication from the cabinet in regards to the proposed plans.

"We know the feasibility study was handed back to the council in December. This has been confirmed by Coun Gwyn John and the consultants, but has yet to to cabinet. It was not added to the agenda for the March 9 meeting, when we were told it would be.

"We want to know why?"

He continued: "Welsh athletics, Barry & Vale Harriers, Cardiff & Vale athletics, Welsh schools athletics all attended the meeting on Friday, along with representatives from the VOG football league and the ward councillor for Rhoose, Coun Philip Clarke.

"They all wanted to put questions to the cabinet but feel disgusted that not one member turned up. All the above parties have asked for months to meet and they have not been willing".

At the moment, Barry Town and Rhoose FC use Jenner Park, and the council argument is that a 3G pitch would help these clubs strengthen their ties with the community.

However, Mr Saunders said: "Barry have two junior teams and no mini teams, while Rhoose have no junior or mini teams. So, we are talking less than 40 young players.

"Where will they gain these players? We all know where from, by poaching from other long established clubs, thereby wrecking them".

So far, more than 1,000 people have signed a petition opposing the plan, and around 40 football coaches have signed a letter of opposition.

A Vale Council spokesman said that the Leader, Coun Neil Moore, had been keen to attend the meeting, but was committed to a diary engagement.

However, a number of the coaches had been able to attend last Monday's cabinet meeting, and had asked questions there.

The spokesman continued: "The 3G pitch at Jenner Park is intended for the whole community, from women's teams, to senior and junior football.

"It will offer thousands of playing hours to groups in the Vale who book time on it".

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Branch Manager Phil Powell feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Vale, Bridgend, RCT and Porthcawl areas and Phil is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

Starring role for eCadets in transAtlantic film premiere

PUPILS at All Saints' C/W Primary School in Barry recently received star billing – when their film premiere was released to an international audience.

Safer Internet Day linked children from several countries in raising awareness of how the internet can be developed as a safe place.

A special promotional film was launched in schools across Wales, the UK and America and the special screening in Barry was watched simultaneously at Google's headquarters in the USA!

All Saints' school was chosen by Childnet to help promote Safer Internet Day because of the success of its 'eCadets' scheme. The pupil team is part of the nationwide eCadet scheme, which trains and supports children to help them keep their friends, parents and community safe online.

Last month, the team members were the only Welsh pupils to star in the trailer which launched national Safer Internet Day in schools across the UK.

The Deputy Minister for Technology and Skills, Julie James AM, attended the Wales launch, along with guests from the Welsh Government, the Vale Council, Llandaff Diocese and pupils from other schools.

Deputy head teacher Aled Williams said: "The day offered the opportunity to highlight the positive uses of technology and explore the role we all play in helping to create a better and safer online community."

Canon Edwin Counsell, the Diocesan director of education, also attended the launch event and commented: "The internet is shaping their learning and the lives of children in schools today.

"I'm delighted to see the children from All Saints and in so many schools developing these essential skills for life." AY

THE WELSH MAN WHO GAVE PI TO THE WORLD

LOCAL youngsters are being called on to celebrate the first 'Pi Day Cymru' this week and have fun with maths, to honour the Welshman who gave Pi to the world.

The Americans have been celebrating March 14 as National Pi Day since 1988 and other countries have followed suit since then, acknowledging the pivotal role pi has played in engineering and technology.

But this year for the first time, Wales is staking its unique claim to the day by remembering Welsh-speaking mathematician William Jones who, in 1706, was the first person to use the Greek letter π or pi to represent the mathematical constant, which enables us to measure the circumference and area of circles.

Pi is an infinite decimal and not even the most powerful computers have managed to calculate its exact value but, for years, people have had fun trying to memorise as many of its digits as they can.

The idea for Pi Day Cymru came from retired professor Gareth Ffowc Roberts, who has received the official backing of the Welsh Government, eager to whet young people's appetite for maths by taking on Pi Day challenges and organising fun activities to mark the date.

The first three digits of pi are 3.14 which in the American calendar equates to March 14. This year is special; because the next two digits of pi are 15, so that 3.1415 equates to March 14, 2015. There are exact times during the day – 9.26 and 53 seconds (am and pm) – which correspond to the first 10 digits of pi: 3.141592653.

Said Professor Roberts: "Because this happens only once every 100 years it's an ideal time for Wales to get involved and to remember our nation's role in giving pi to the world. William Jones' recognition of the importance of pi and of its special properties proved to be a significant advance. Mathematicians, scientists and engineers keenly took up the idea, which had a major impact on the development of technology across the world at the dawn of the industrial revolution."

"They might want to video themselves doing a pi memory test – in English or in Welsh, William Jones's first language – or maybe young people could use pi to calculate the circumference of circular landmarks in their own localities and post pictures on Facebook or other social media," he said.

NEW EMMAUS STORE OPENS

THE Emmaus store on Cowbridge High Street will be officially opened by the Mayor at 9.30am on March 18.

"Emmaus was founded in 1949. A worldwide movement, it offers an alternative to homelessness by providing people with a home, work and companionship, to help them to regain their self-esteem," a spokeswoman explained.

The charity already has shops in Maesteg, Porthcawl and Neath and a shop and superstore in Bridgend. Later this year it will open a new Emmaus south Wales 'Community' for 23 people in a renovated former sheltered housing building in Bridgend.

Director Tom Clarke commented: "Now we can provide bargains for Cowbridge shoppers, which boosts our plans to help homeless people in south Wales back onto their feet."

Emmaus South Wales won the Bridgend Business Forum Award for the 'Social Enterprise of the Year' in 2014.

Gladstone pupils go red for Wales to celebrate Saint's day!

CHILDREN and staff of Gladstone Primary School, Barry celebrated St David's Day when the usual school uniform of blue and black was switched to red – with most children dressing up in Welsh costume, Welsh sports shirts, or simply red!

The school eisteddfod was held in the afternoon, hosted by Mrs Reilly and Mrs Lindley, where art, handwriting and poetry competition winners were announced.

The celebrations also included Welsh folk dancing from Reception, a performance by the Infant choir, clarinet, flute and violin performances and, of course, lots of Welsh singing!

The Chairing of the Bard ceremony took place, assisted by druids from year-5 and dancers from year-2. This year's year-6 bard was Kelly Shi with her poem entitled 'My Wales'.

The staff at Gladstone were overwhelmed by the quality of the home task entries, which was to design and create a Welsh coat of arms.

Former Plaid leader to warn against fracking

Picture by Nigel Pugh.

FORMER Plaid Cymru leader, Dafydd Wigley, will address a public meeting at 7.30pm in the Windsor Arms, Penarth tomorrow (Friday) on the dangers of fracking and to give an update on measures being taken to stop it in Wales.

The ex-MP, Assembly Member, and member of the House of Lords has headed up the Plaid campaign on the issue which is of particular concern in the Vale of Glamorgan, where planning permission has been given for test drilling at three sites.

Dafydd Wigley said: "The fact that we will be getting control over fracking in Wales is a direct result of the lead taken by Plaid Cymru, both at Westminster and at the National Assembly.

"We will now have the powers for a total moratorium on fracking in Wales, but we must ensure this is delivered quickly so that no permissions are given before it's in place."

Friday's meeting will be hosted by Party of Wales Cardiff South and Penarth parliamentary candidate, Ben Foday, who said:

"We oppose fracking because of the danger it poses to the environment, water and health."

Brewery staff opt for Tenovus

SA BRAIN has announced that its new charity partner is Tenovus Cancer Care, following a staff vote.

The charity, which currently has almost 2,000 volunteers and supports people affected by cancer with free emotional and practical support, funds £1million of research annually.

People visiting the company's pubs and coffee shops will have the opportunity to donate to Tenovus Cancer Care, and employees at SA Brain will spend the next year raising funds for the charity in a number of exciting ways.

Clare Gallie, director of income generation for Tenovus Cancer Care, said: "This is a really exciting and important partnership for us. The money raised will make a big difference to our work supporting cancer patients and their loved ones, and by having a presence in SA Brains outlets across Wales we will be able to let more people know about the support we can offer."

If you or someone you love has been affected by cancer, Tenovus Cancer Care can offer help and support. To find out more call the Tenovus Cancer Care free Support Line on 0808 808 1010 or visit tenovuscancercare.org.uk.

Community stunned by tragic death of teenagers in crash

REPORT by PHILIP IRWIN

AFTER a tragic and traumatic weekend, the town of Barry is in shock over the death of four people in a crash on the A470 near Brecon – three of the dead were 17-year-olds from Barry.

In a separate incident, an 18-year-old man from Barry is in intensive care after an attack in a Porthcawl caravan park.

The tragic events began at 10.15pm on Friday, March 6, on the A470 between Libanus and RAC bends near Storey Arms, Powys.

Two vehicles were involved in a collision, a black Volkswagen Golf estate and a green Volkswagen Golf.

The green VW contained five young people from Barry and the driver, Rhodri Miller, and a passenger, Corey Price, were declared dead at the scene.

Alesha O'Connor, also 17, was taken to hospital, where she died of her injuries.

The other two passengers in the green VW were taken to hospital with serious injuries.

The driver and front seat passenger in the black VW Golf estate were taken to hospital with serious injuries. The passenger, 68-year-old Margaret Elizabeth Challis (nee Webber) from the Merthyr area, died in hospital from her injuries.

A police spokeswoman said: "It is believed that a number of vehicles were travelling in convoy at the time of the collision."

These vehicles were heading towards Brecon, while Margaret Challis' car was heading in the opposite direction.

Following the accident, five male drivers, from other vehicles in the convoy, were arrested on suspicion of dangerous driving. They were later released on police bail.

Later that night, two more males were arrested and also later released on bail. All seven were either 17 or 18 years old.

The first tributes released were from the immediate family of the victims.

The parents of Rhodri Miller said: "Rhodri was a bright talented 17-year-old who had so much to live for. He was studying for his A-Levels at Bro Morgannwg School.

"He was a very popular boy inside and outside of school; he loved his football, was a season ticket holder for Cardiff City Football Club, and loved going to the gym.

"He will be very sadly missed by family and friends, and all who knew him."

Paul and Sharon, Alesha's parents, said: "Alesha was a kind loving child, a much loved baby sister AND OUR BEAUTIFUL PRINCESS.

"She was much loved by all her extended family. She was the perfect daughter and friend and has left a massive void in our family.

Corey Price.

Alesha O'Connor and Rhodri Miller.

Margaret Challis

"We as a family would like to pass on our sympathy to the other families who have lost loved ones."

The parents of Corey Price said: "The family of Corey are devastated by the sudden and tragic loss of their wonderful, gentle and caring son, brother, uncle and grandson.

"No words can explain how we are feeling but we are truly grateful for the support of our family and friends at this tragic time."

Both Rhodri Miller and Corey Price were pupils at Ysgol Bro Morgannwg, and the headteacher, Dylan Jones, remembered both boys as talented in different ways, with Rhodri excelling in science and Corey showing great promise as a footballer.

The school week at Ysgol Bro Morgannwg started on Monday morning with an emotional service at the morning assembly.

Alesha O'Connor was a former pupil of St Richard Gwyn Catholic High School, and was studying for A-Levels at St David's Sixth Form College in Cardiff.

There were emotional scenes at morning assembly there too, as pupils arrived. At both schools, displays of floral tributes grew rapidly.

A Vale Council spokesman said that any school had been offered its full support, through counselling services or any other means.

A community memorial service was held yesterday evening (Wednesday) at the Windsor Road Chapel in Barry, arranged by Lindsay Ellis, of Vale Funeral Services.

He said: "Barry is in a state of shock, and it was a chance for people to reflect on the tragedy."

Vale MP Alun Cairns said: "I have made contact with all of the families involved in this tragic situation. My prayers go out to all involved.

"It is deeply sad to see these young lives lost and the impact it has had on family, friends and the wider community in Barry and the rest of the Vale. I offer my deepest condolences and support to the local community."

Although Barry is the largest town in Wales, it still seems that everyone knows someone who has been affected.

This is true for staff here at The GEM, and everyone on this newspaper shares that sense of shock.

A friend of Alesha's, Ella Watts, said: "Alesha was beautiful, outgoing, funny and constantly happy. She was way too young. Her best friends want her story to be shared – so that people are more aware of how the community of Barry has come together to celebrate the three young, lost lives.

"I've written a poem which has touched many people on social media and I would love for as many people as possible to see this."

Prayer for Alesha O'Connor
22.10.97 - 7.03.15

I hope this prayer reaches Heaven,
I hope this prayer reaches you;
I hope you've found comfort,
Like we're trying to.
We'll miss you always, till the end of days,
We'll love you forever,
shine down on us through the sun's rays,
You are our angel now,
Looking down on us from above,
Your beauty is beyond words,
You are still with your one true love.
We'll never be the same without you,
You were a big part of our lives,
You are a true inspiration,
To all 'wannabe housewives'

DOLPHIN DISPUTE COULD DERAIL FUN FAIR PLANS

by PHILIP IRWIN

THE planning committee of the Vale Council will meet tonight (Thursday) to consider an application that has implications for the future of Barry Island fun fair.

Although the Midlands-based showman Henry Danter says that everything is ready to move onto the site and be open for business by Easter, a complicated planning dispute between the Vale Council and the Barry Island Property Company, which owns the land, is putting the timetable in peril.

Rob Thomas, the Vale Council's director of development services, said: "We are eager to see a funfair open once more on Barry Island as soon as possible and have done everything within our power to make this happen.

"Unfortunately what we cannot do is grant Mr Danter access to the site. The only people who can do this are its current owners.

"It appears their priority is the redevelopment of the Dolphin public house which sits alongside the derelict Barry Island pleasure park. An application for the redevelopment of the building for housing and commercial use is due to be considered on March 12 (today).

"However, there is no reason that the sale of the funfair site cannot progress in the meantime. Likewise, there is no reason why Mr Danter cannot be given immediate access to set up the site in time for Easter, given that he does not need planning permission or the consent of the council."

The stumbling block appears to be conditions placed on the Dolphin development – a housing and commercial complex, with 25 flats – by the Vale Council in terms of Section 106 money, and in terms of the percentage of housing units that should be "affordable".

The Barry Island Property Company's advisors have disagreed with the council over this, feeling that the total value of the demands will make their scheme unviable, and have asked the District Valuer to step in and rule on the matter.

However, whether the contents of that report will bring about a resolution to the dispute in time for tonight's planning meeting is a matter for debate.

QUILT EXHIBITION

THE Vale AM, Jane Hutt, is encouraging people to visit the Mothers of Africa quilt exhibition at the Senedd, which is open until March 18.

The Cardiff-based medical education charity Mothers of Africa provide training for nurses, caring for pregnant women in sub-Saharan Africa.

Maggie Cullinane, of the Cardiff School of Art and Design, has supported the charity via a novel quilt fundraising project which involved students and friends being sponsored to create fabric squares to be made up into a quilt.

Woman dies in house fire

AN elderly woman has died after a house fire in Penarth.

The Police and Fire Service were called to a property on Cedar Way, Penarth, just before 7.30pm on Tuesday, March 10 after reports of smoke coming from the premises. The elderly lady was found inside.

A South Wales Police spokeswoman said: "The cause of her death is not yet known and an investigation into the cause of the fire is under way. At this stage, the incident is being treated as unexplained.

"Officers are in the process of informing the lady's next of kin and formally identifying her.

"No-one else is believed to have been inside the house at the time and no-one else has been reported injured.

"Anyone with information on the fire is asked to contact South Wales Police on 101, quoting reference number 1500083383."

Three of the best!

COUN Richard Bertin believes that Julia Grillard is Barry's greatest person (The GEM, February 26 – 'I vote for Julie').

Well, I can suggest three greater ones!

1) David Davies of Llandinam, not born here, but responsible for making Barry the business coal-exporting port in the world by 1913.

2) Gareth James, investigative journalist, who, to world-wide disbelief, exposed the terrible famine – the Holidomopy – in the Ukraine. A blue plaque is on his family home in Romilly Road. He was believed to have been murdered, probably by Stalin's NKVD, in Mongolia in the 1930s.

3), Gwyn Thomas: teacher of Spanish at Barry Grammar School; raconteur; poet; broadcaster; inspirational speaker and personality.

Christopher Short,
Barry.

Council 'storing up winter woes'

PLAID Cymru councillors have warned that many roads in the Vale may go un-gritted next winter, claiming the Vale Council's budget showed £80,000 is being cut from the winter maintenance budget.

Coun Chris Franks asked for clarification on the plans for the new financial year, and said that communities should be consulted.

Flybe expands flights from the Cardiff Airport

PASSENGERS across Wales will now be able to fly from Cardiff Airport to destinations such as Faro, Munich, and Milan after a new 11-route network was announced with Flybe, Europe's largest regional airline last week.

From this summer, travellers can take advantage of fares starting at £24.99 and flights to new routes from Cardiff to Cork, Dublin, Edinburgh, Faro, Glasgow, Munich, Milan and Paris, as well as to existing routes between Cardiff and Belfast, Düsseldorf and Jersey, a spokesperspon said.

The new network will see over half a million seats going on sale, with the first on sale at www.flybe.com.

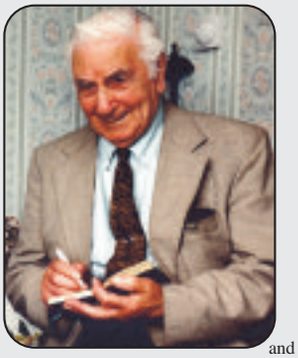
Saad Hammad with Sir David Rowe-Beddoe.

Saad Hammad, CEO, Flybe said: "We are delighted to launch these exciting new routes from Cardiff Airport which involves us basing two of these jets there to serve the Welsh market with great value fares and further improving UK regional connectivity."

The First Minister of Wales Carwyn Jones AM said: "Flybe's announcement that it is opening a new base operating 11 routes from Cardiff Airport is fantastic news. We've always said that we want the airport to be a gateway to Wales, to drive our economy by bringing tourists and business to the country. We've already invested in improving the overall customer experience at Cardiff Airport and the new routes to major European destinations, as well as the creation of 50 new jobs, demonstrates Flybe's commitment to the Airport and will help to make it the success we know it can be."

OBITUARY: ALFRED MILLS, Barry (1911-2015)

It is with the deepest sorrow that we have to report the death on Monday of the highly-respected local historian and long-standing GEM contributor, Alfred ('Alf') Mills, whose fascinating personal accounts of times past in the Vale endeared him to our readers over many years. Always the perfect gentleman, he will be sadly missed, not least by everyone here at The GEM. We extend our deepest sympathy to his family and many friends.



BORN in Whitchurch, Cardiff of English parents, Alfred grew up with a brother and three sisters in Rhoose and Porthkerry, with his father working on the land in and around Porthkerry.

He attended Porthkerry School (in which one of his sisters eventually lived), followed by attendance at Romilly Road School and eventually he reached Barry County Grammar School and was tutored in book-keeping and accountancy.

All of his working life was spent entirely at Rhoose Cement works, where he started as a stave lad – and later, Aberthaw Cement works, with some time at the Rhoose Asbestos factory.

Some of his work was taken up as a plate layer, responsible for railway track maintenance within the works site, but he eventually operated quarry haulage winches at the Rhoose and Aberthaw crushing plants, followed by a similar role at Aberthaw. He learned to operate the quarry navvy and, finally, for many years the main quarry haulage winch at Rhoose works.

With the abolition of the quarry haulage at Rhoose works, following massive modifications and the addition of a new cement kiln, by 1959 he became spare locomotive driver and weigh-bridge attendant at Rhoose works.

Married at Neath in 1935, he and his wife Edith, moved to Park Crescent in Barry and in 1937 they raised a son, and after a move to High Street, followed by a further move to his 'lifetime' dwelling at Queen Street from 1941, raised a second son in 1942 and a daughter in 1947.

He relished the countryside and local developments and became something of a local historian, and his writings have been a regular feature in The GEM.

In August 1996 he published a booklet, "Memories immune to time", which apparently sold 6,000 copies, though he received no remuneration.

For a while he became a special constable at Barry, but turned to his love of first aid, which he was involved in at the Aberthaw Cement Company's works.

Between 1958 and 1981, he was a voluntary St John Ambulance person and became superintendent, Barry Dock Division. On his retirement from his regular Rhoose cement works employment, he was asked by the company to carry on with first aid training at Rhoose and Aberthaw works, and even did a spell of teaching first aid to students at Barry Training College into his 80s.

On leaving the St John Ambulance group, he moved to the Red Cross organisation and spent many hours at the Barry Island First Aid station – and even met up with royalty on a couple of occasions.

On his 93rd birthday, The GEM treated him to a pleasure flight from Rhoose airport and he took the controls in flight of the light aircraft for a couple of minutes under supervision of the pilot.

Remarkably he recovered from a serious accident at Aberthaw works in 1944, when he fractured his spine and was off work for 18 months.

In 1970, he suffered a serious injury in a car accident near his Barry home. He never fully recovered from that, losing some dexterity in his hands; ironically, he was still driving a few years ago but was involved in yet another car accident very near his home!

However, he managed to acquire another small car which he drove until he had almost reached 100, when he received the Queen's Telegram.

Until a couple of years ago, he was still doing his own cooking, washing and ironing, but arthritis in his knees was a setback. With a chairlift to overcome the house stairway, he was living alone following the death of his wife in December 2001.

Walking became a somewhat painful affair and he was regularly overseen by his immediate family, especially his daughter and son-in-law who helped immensely in his longevity.

Until January this year he was still doing his Daily Mirror crossword but his health deteriorated seriously after a couple of falls in his home and he became hospitalised on February 28.

At almost 104 years of age, he passed away at Heath Hospital on March 9, leaving two sons, a daughter, two grand-sons, four grand-daughters, two great grand-daughters and two great-grandsons.

How music inspires sick and elderly

MEMBERS of the Penarth and Llandough Mothers' Union were enthralled by a talk given on March 5 by Robert Aitken CBE, on 'Music in Hospitals'.

He talked about how music can uplift, inspire and encourage those who are ill in hospital or living in residential or nursing homes. Colonel Aitken, who heads Music in Hospitals in Wales, spoke passionately about the therapeutic value of music and how singing, in particular, is good for the brain.

"Music", he said, "has the power to connect with the brain in a remarkable way, and is a powerful tool for stimulating people who are ill, have dementia or who may just need cheering up".

Music in Hospitals is a charity founded in 1948 and works across the whole of the UK, where every year it gives 5,000 concerts and performances in various settings, of which 500 are in Wales.

All concerts are given by professional musicians who give their services free, or charge minimal fees and travel expenses.

Colonel Aitken suggested that a very special birthday present to someone no longer living at home was to get Music in Hospitals to come and give a performance – particularly if the music chosen was known to be particularly loved by the recipient.

Anyone wanting to ask Music in Hospital to perform for a group or individual should contact Col Aitken on 02920 391415 or email Wales@musicinhospitals.org.uk

ARCHIVE TELLS OF ROLE PLAYED BY WOMEN IN WELSH INDUSTRY

AT Canolfan Soar, Merthyr Tydfil on March 25 the Women's Archive of Wales will be launching the final report of a Heritage-Lottery Funded oral history project, 'Voices From the Factory Floor.'

Some 210 interviews have been recorded and transcribed, 60 of them in the medium of Welsh, describing the life and work at 208 different factories.

A spokeswoman said: "Although the significance of the manufacturing industries to the economy of Wales in the period after the Second World War is recognised, the key role women played is often forgotten.

"Many of the women who worked in these factories are now elderly and the Women's Archive of Wales, fulfilling one of its main objectives, to preserve women's history, wanted to record the experiences of this factory life before it was entirely forgotten."

A dedicated website, www.factorywomensvoices.wales will also be launched on March 25.

Voices from the Factory Floor

"I'D done the Welsh feathers and the Lady Diana ring and they were beautiful things. They were the three feathers. They would come in two pieces. I would solder a little blob with a crown.

"I believe we got feathers and a crown that were joined together, and then I would put a hook and a hinge for a pin to go on so it would be a brooch, and then it would go to other sections then to be cleaned up or plated whatever."

AO; Attwood and Sawyer Factory, Porthcawl

"YES, if you didn't do your work, if you weren't pulling your weight then yes, you would lose your job because you had to keep up on a production line.

"So if you didn't keep up, or were chatting and laughing not keeping up on the line, then you would lose your job, because it was a production line.

"There was a belt running down the middle of the production line and the garments came down on the belt. You took it off, did your part, put it back on the belt for the next person, so it was a continuous line all the time. You had to keep up."

GR; London Pride Factory, Bridgend

"WE had the strong impression that we were being discouraged from trade union activity. Determined to proceed with our plans, we made an appointment to consult a local, leading trade union supporter to ask his advice.

"He reacted by contacting the local press, as a result of which, headlines the next day proclaimed that 'Trade union membership was being discouraged at a Local Underwear Factory.'

"This embarrassing revelation led to a change of heart at the Sidroy Mills, with management complying with our aim to create a local branch of the Tailor & Garment Workers' Union.

"At the first general meeting, members were elected to fill the posts of chairman, secretary and treasurer, with my sister and I elected as chair and secretary of the branch and when properly established, members elected us as delegates to the local Trade Union Council."

Performers take to the stage for the Haiti charity

THE 2010 earthquake in Haiti claimed over 200,000 lives.

Haiti is the poorest country in the western hemisphere. Unemployment runs at 80 per cent – street traders earn about £30 a month.

Haiti is going to take a total of 20 years to restructure. Lots of children eat food every other day.

Haiti Hospital Appeal, a charity started by two British drama students, has built a spinal case unit for people – severely injured in the quake – and they have also opened a hospital.

This campaign raises money for Haiti Hospital Appeal.

The Barry-based 'Pukka Theatre Group' (PUKKA) will be presenting a show at the Masonic Hall, Broad Street, Barry on Sunday, March 29.

The show will run from approximately 3pm to 5pm – doors open at 2.30pm.

The singers range from children up to adults. The show Celebrate the 1920s will feature music from Bugsy Malone, Chicago, Singing in the Rain and other shows of the era.

It promises to be an unforgettable afternoon. Bar facilities and a raffle will also be available.

Tickets are available from me at £5 each or people can pay on the door (telephone 749727 for tickets and further information). Other shows will take place later on.

Jane Hutt and Mischelle Smith are honourary patrons of this campaign. Many thanks are extended to all those people who support this campaign.

Godfrey Knight, Barry.

THIS CHAPPIE IS WORTH WATCHING!

WHEN Neill Blomkamp burst onto the scene with 2009's District 9, it was a stunning debut from the South African director, marrying spectacle and substance beautifully, a sci-fi yarn that beneath the surface made some cutting observations about the nature of segregation.

When Blomkamp's second effort riffed on the same themes the result was the ineffective Elysium, so he has much to prove with his third effort, Chappie.

It tells the story of the titular robot (motion captured by regular collaborator Sharlto Copley), a police robot who is reprogrammed by Deon (Dev Patel), after he develops technology to create a sentient being, allowing Chappie to think, feel and communicate.

However, his presence doesn't go unnoticed and Deon's co-worker (and former soldier) Vincent Moore (Hugh Jackman) takes it upon himself to nullify any threat that Chappie may pose – but he won't go down without a fight...

With Chappie, you could think that Neill Blomkamp has gone to the well too many times.

Much like his first two films, it is a story of man struggling to come to terms with a new technological dawn, set in the near future, while working on both a basic and a deeper level.

In terms of where it falls between District 9 and Elysium, it falls to the former more, and feels like a 21st century version of Short Circuit, albeit with more mature, weightier concerns.

Andy Serkis seems to be considered the king of the motion capture arena, but you can see from this evidence that Sharlto Copley could easily challenge that should he wish to, as it is his central performance as Chappie that holds everything together.

It wouldn't work if it was in any way flawed, but it is just sublime, not just Copley's performance that captures the wide-eyed innocence of creation all the way to the bitterness and anger of loss and hatred, but also on a technological level.

Blomkamp's ability to marshal and push computer effects pays incredible dividends with a photo-realistic character that the largely human cast can bounce off.

Most impressive of these are Dev Patel as Chappie's creator, or 'maker' as the robot calls him the actor throwing off the stereotypes of these boffin types with a fresh face and personality, trying to do the right thing even when it goes against his employers' wishes, while Ninja and Yolandi of South African rap duo Die Antwoord (yeah, me neither) seemingly play themselves as criminals intent on using Chappie as a tool to get them out of a fix.

These two suffer from an inability to act, meaning that some of the more emotional moments lose their impact when they are involved.

But it's not just rappers that suffer in terms of acting – big names also don't quite work either.

Sigourney Weaver has a small role, but saddled with weak dialogue as Deon and Vincent's boss, she is unconvincing and slightly wooden, a rare misstep for a fine actress.

Where the film really comes to life is in Blomkamp's direction.

Visually superb, and using the worn-out look of Johannesburg, he captures the anarchy that has resulted in the use of a mechanised police force, and the dangerous characters within it, wonderfully well; while technologically he hits all the right notes, the film's climax high-octane with a side order of epic.

The script aims to make salient points about man's reliance on technology, how we are both awed and in fear of what the future may bring, but wisely chooses not to play the satire card; instead, much like District 9, it plays it for realism, and as a result it works extremely well.

The notion of nature versus nurture is well examined (Chappie is in essence a child, forced to do some rapid growing up in a harsh environment) as is the level of consciousness within artificial intelligence (something that is becoming 2015's theme of choice).

With Blomkamp's next film a new entry in the Alien saga, it seems the director has rediscovered his mojo with Chappie; it's not without its faults, but once it warms up and gets going there's much to enjoy.

VERDICT – A return to form after the slightly disappointing Elysium, Chappie sees Neill Blomkamp create a film that manages to be both heartwarming and epic, in terms of its visual spectacle.

Intelligent, but not short of brawn, it plays broadly but with enough going on to keep you engaged. Worth watching.

SEE THIS IF YOU LIKED: District 9 (2009), Short Circuit (1986).

READERS' LETTERS EXTRA

ON THE PLUS SIDE OUTSIDE THE EU...

YOUR recent letters correspondent invites us to imagine life post EU, so I will give it a try!

First, expect government by politicians who are answerable to their electorates...

Escape from the common fisheries policy and reclaim historic fishing grounds. No longer the disgraceful practice of throwing thousands of tons of dead fish back into the sea...

Farmers grow what they think is best and not what they are told...

Join EFTA. This is a trading union (with full access to the EU single market) which is what we thought the Common Market was, when we joined all those years ago.

Mr Heath said: "There are some in this country who fear that, in going into Europe, we shall in some way sacrifice independence and sovereignty. These fears, I need hardly say, are completely unjustified". He was having a laugh...

Our own seat on supranational bodies: your correspondent says that Norway must dance to the EU's tune. Leave it aside that Norway does so at vastly smaller cost than does the UK; the EU itself has to dance to the tunes of the World Trade Organisation, UN Food and Agriculture Organisation, UN Economic Commission for Europe, Aarhus Convention on the environment and the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development.

Norway has its own seat at these; the UK, being represented by Europe, has one/twenty-eighth of a seat...

Maintain trade with the EU, but expand trade with the rest of the world. The UK runs a trade deficit with the EU; would the EU ban its own exports? Under article 50 of the Lisbon Treaty the EU is legally mandated to trade with non-EU countries, which would include the UK...

Spend more of our own money as we wish. At present, we have to ask for it back, and get just some of our previous contribution, which comes with instructions on how to spend it...

Look out for the UK's interests. The EU is determined to keep its currency alive and will always aim for pro-euro economic policies.

London has just escaped by the skin of its teeth from losing the euro denominated stock and bond trade. It would be interesting to know whether any of the companies threatening to abandon the UK for Europe if it leaves were also in favour of the UK joining the euro.

Last (for now) but by no means least, regain border control, instead of the current system of mutual gate crashing.

R Bradshaw,
Cowbridge.

Helping to make a fairer world...

MAY I, through the pages of your newspaper, thank all those who have given all their time and effort towards making Barry an official Fairtrade town?

Without their dedication and hard work none of this could have been achieved.

Barrians can be proud that the town has, at long last, joined the growing number of cities, towns and villages who are working towards making the world a fairer place.

Once again, thanks for all your hard work.

Coun Rob Curtis,

Totting up those lost percentages

IN last week's edition of your very much appreciated newspaper, is a letter from Coun Bronwen Brooks (cabinet member for housing), which says how much affordable housing is needed throughout the Vale.

(The headline read 'Affordable housing part of long-term rural plan'.

It amazes me that in Colwinston, plans have been passed to build 64 houses.

In their wisdom, the council have let the builders build 25 per cent of affordable houses, not 35 per cent.

This means that instead of 22 affordable houses, they will build only 16.

So much for Coun Bronwen Brooks' drive for more affordable houses.

CJ Hawkins,
Colwinston.

Why this craze for tattoos?

TATTOOS? I hate them – they are spreading very fast. On TV recently, we were shown a man who has become so obsessed he has his entire body and his face covered.

I find it hard to believe that anyone could employ or live with him.

What is it that makes someone do such a thing? Words fail me.

Mrs Ivy Heveron, Rhoose.

RHOOSE CALL

ON Monday, March 16, the Vale of Glamorgan Council scrutiny committee will meet at 6pm to discuss the outcome of the library consultation.

Meet at Rhoose Social Club Saturday, March 14 at 12 noon, or meet at the council offices, Holton Road at 5.30pm on Monday.

CARDIFF ROAD, BARRY INDUSTRIAL ESTATES

More than meets the eye!

BARRY COMPANIES THAT GO THAT 'EXTRA MILE' FOR THEIR CUSTOMERS

INNOVATIVE and forward-thinking – those are the hallmarks of companies in Palmerston.

CEG Graphics Ltd provides graphics and designs on a host of items.

Owner Adrian Lewis explained: "Everything is made to order. We have a vehicle graphics team that does all aspects of vehicle livery from basic logos to full vinyle vehicle wraps."

It means if someone is starting a business and wants contact details and logos on fleet cars, Adrian is the man to get in touch with.

The CEG Graphics team's skills are used in a host of other ways too.

Adrian said: "We do mug printing, cap printing, full garment printing and uniforms, personalised mobile phone, laptop and iPad cases."

The team recently created a design on the clothing for a local karate club. For more information, call CEG Graphics on (01446 720665).

Next door at Palmersvale Business Centre is Sculpts Extreme Supplements, a thriving fitness business run by Barry's own 'Mr Motivator' Lee Szuchnik.

Lee is a godsend to people who have hit rock-bottom because of their excessive weight. He has a true vocation in helping people get fitter and feel better about themselves.

He explained: "Being overweight causes serious health problems such as strokes, type 2 diabetes and high blood pressure.

"We give people all the support they need to lose weight. If someone comes here and doesn't lose weight, I'm doing something wrong."

Lee supplies slimming tablets such as 'Granite' and 'Fab Abs' that help people to shift body fat and improve general health.

He said: "We give people one to one support, encourage a healthy lifestyle, devise a basic diet plan and provide guidelines for them to watch what they are eating."

Lee has a positive nature that rubs off on his clients, and you can see why he has turned people's lives around.

He has helped people whose weight has ballooned to such extremes that they have found it difficult to motivate themselves to get up from an armchair or needed walking sticks to get about.

One of his clients, Ceri, who was in his mid thirties managed to lose eight stone!

If you go to www.sculptsextreme.co.uk/ and click on 'Testimonials' you will be able to read of other weight-loss successes.

VFM Trade Meat Superstore has been a fixture at Palmersvale Business Centre for many years and has developed a reputation for keen deals.

Owner, Simon Nash, said: "We are starting a new home delivery service. The minimum order is £30 and delivery is free. People can ring us or message us on Facebook.

"We cut and pack all our fresh meat daily in store, and it is priced at up to 50 per cent off supermarket prices.

"We've also got a large range of frozen food at very low prices."

Simon expects to be delivering not just in nearby Barry, Dinas Powys, Sully and Penarth, but to Rhoose, St Athan and Llantwit Major too.

For more information, look up VFM on Facebook.

It all goes to show that local businesses are doing their best to provide the public with the most up-to-date services!

CARDIFF ROAD, BARRY INDUSTRIAL ESTATES

More than meets the eye!

Family businesses are flourishing on Industrial Estate!

THE Ty Verlon Estate is a major pillar of Barry's economy – family businesses employing dozens of local people.

The Bead Room at Boxes and Busts is run by Louise and Paul Francis who live in the town.

Louise said: "We have been here for almost 12 years. Originally, we were doing packaging and display for the jewellery trade.

"Now we believe we're the biggest supplier of beads and jewellery components in Wales. Over the years, we've developed an international customer base."

On specific days, publicised in The GEM, Louise hosts free demonstrations and taster sessions in the arts and know-how of jewellery making.

Today (Thursday, March 12), there is a 'Kumihimo' session from 1.30pm to 7pm.

Visitors are guaranteed a warm welcome and leave inspired by the amazing amount of jewellery-making items on offer!

TOP VALETING!

Just a few yards round the corner from Boxes and Busts is Lloyd's Auto Detailing run by Lloyd Baker.

Lloyd said: "I do valeting and paint correction for all types of vehicles. A valet cost between £15 and £250, depending on what a client wants done."

Across the road from Lloyds Auto Detailing is Baker's Baguettes, owned by Lloyd's mother Angela.

It is open Monday to Friday, 7.30am to 3pm and serves a great range of breakfasts, jacket potatoes, paninis, omlettes, meals and drinks.

Angela said: "We provide a service for people who work on the estate and visitors. But members of the public are welcome too. Over time we have got more and more passers-by."

Baker's Baguettes is on the left hand side on the main road into the estate, opposite Lloyd's Auto Detailing.

Dinas Windows is a family business and was started by brothers Jon and Nick Madge. In 2012, it celebrated 25 years in business.

A spokesman said: "We have quality fitting teams and fabricators. Our team all work to a high standard of workmanship to deliver customers the highest level of quality.

"As a company, we always strive to do the best we can when manufacturing and fitting our windows, doors and conservatories, which are all manufactured at our premises in Barry.

"The majority of our work comes from recommendations and we would, therefore, like to thank all our customers, past and present, for supporting Dinas Windows and hope that they will continue to do so in the future."

LOCAL SCHOOL PUPILS SHOW OFF THEIR BUSINESS ACUMEN

ENTERPRISING pupils from a Maesteg primary school are in the running next week to win a national competition to find Wales' most business-savvy students.

The Enterprise Troopers competition – part of Welsh Government's Youth Entrepreneurship programme – was first launched in 2013 to inspire entrepreneurship in primary school learners, and challenge pupils across Wales to develop their own business ideas.

Youngsters from St Mary and St Patrick's RC Primary School in Maesteg have won their way through to the final of the nationwide contest with their classroom business which made and sold Christmas crafts.

The school was among eight finalists from south east Wales who will now go head to head with schools from across Wales in a grand Enterprise Troopers final to be held at the Senedd in Cardiff Bay on March 19.

The school's success in winning through to the national final was announced at the south east Wales regional final held in Coleg Y Cymoedd, Nantgarw, where regional awards were also won by: Sully Primary (Foundation Phase), Y Bont Faen Primary and Darran Park Primary (Business Engagement) Llysfaen Primary and St Andrew's Major Church in Wales Primary (Most Innovative Product or Service), Trelewis Primary and Penygawsi Primary (Display Stand Award), Duffryn Primary and Ffaldau Primary (Team Spirit) Issy Sellek, Ysgol Coed-y-Gof, Barney Rind, Sully Primary and Olivia Gillard, Llysfaen Primary (Star Trooper Awards).

Minister for Economy Science and Transport, Edwina Hart AM, said: "Encouraging a culture of entrepreneurship among young people is imperative for our long-term economic success.

" I am consistently surprised and impressed by the ever increasing quality of business ideas coming from primary school children across Wales, whose imagination, creativity and insightfulness shows no bounds year on year."

St Mary's and St Patrick's pupils with the 'Enterprise Troopers'.

Two men who had the drop on gravity

THE speaker at the recent Barry Men's Forum was Mike Cheeseman, who recalled that Isaac Newton and Galileo were both credited with the discovery of gravity.

Galileo was the first as he was born a hundred years before Newton. People don't realise the effect that gravity has on their everyday lifestyle.

Simple tasks like drinking a cup of tea would not be possible without gravity. We tend to forget about gravity until walking up a steep hill, or if we drop a ball at the top of a slope.

For hundreds of years, men have envied how easily birds can overcome the effects of gravity, they just flap their wings and fly away. We have tried to emulate birds by making machines for us to escape from gravity's clutches.

Mike then gave a brief history of how aviation had developed from the first kites, to engine powered propeller driven planes, and then from the first jets to the huge present day jumbo jets.

Mike recounted the space race between Russia and America. Russia launched the first satellite in space, Sputnik 1. America sent fruit flies and monkeys into space. Russia sent the first man into space - Yuri Gagarin.

Then the next race began, to send the first man to the moon. America won that race when Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin both landed on the moon.

While researching this episode, Mike noticed the huge amount of conflicting information on the moon landings.

So much so, that he promised another talk to discuss the pros and cons of the moon landing conspiracy.

The Forum next meets on Thursday, March 19, at 10.15am.

David Brushett will be speaking on the topic of 'Lest we Forget' at Trinity Presbyterian Church Hall, Aberystwyth Crescent.

New members are welcome.

Council staff cheque in memory of paramedic

THE Vale Council's building control has raised £1,000 for the Marie Curie Centre at Penarth, in memory of their friend and local paramedic, Adrian Cook, who died last month.

The team, along with staff from the council's planning department and Nina Estate Agents, sold raffle tickets and collected donations at the annual Building Excellence Awards in the Vale Golf Club on January 30.

Around £900 was raised on the night between the 90 guests, with the remaining £100 donated by Nina herself.

Last week, the team visited the centre in Penarth to present the cheque for £1,000.

Jake Barrett, on right, displays his award.

JEWSON apprentice Jake Barrett (22) has scooped the company's outstanding learner of the year award.

He is one of over 50 apprentices who completed a customer service apprenticeship programme through ACT Training.

The former Barry Comprehensive School pupil said: "I was really surprised to have won the award. It's a great achievement for me and it just proves that you can achieve whatever you put your mind to.

"I couldn't have done it without the support I received from my line manager, Lee, and the rest of my colleagues at Jewson."

WIs celebrate with a centenary service

ON March 7 the Glamorgan Federation of Women's Institutes held a service of thanksgiving on the centenary of the WI.

The service, held at Llandaff Cathedral was led by Reverend Gerwyn Huw Capon, Dean of Llandaff. Members from over 90 Institutes attended and their banners were proudly paraded at the beginning of the ceremony.

Guests included the Lord Mayor of Cardiff, Federation of Wales Chair Mrs Ann Jones, National Public Affairs Committee Chair Mrs Marylyn Haines-Evans, Head of National Federation of Wales Office Rhian Connick, and the Chairs of Brecon, Carmarthen, Ceredigion and Gwent Federations, past Glamorgan Federation Chairmen and WI Advisors.

The lessons were read by Mrs Carolyn Davies, Glamorgan Federation chairman, Mrs Sheena Sarjeant past Federation chairman, and Mrs Ann Jones, Federation of Wales chair. In her address, Mrs Margaret Bourke, past Federation secretary talked about the history and achievements of the WI and its invaluable contribution to British life since its formation a hundred years ago.

She ended by saying that the WI was an organisation of which we could be justly proud.

LABC CYMRU

Cymryd Rhan ar Ogwen — BRIDGEND County Borough Council

The winning projects are not judged just on architectural beauty, but on their technical and construction 'excellence'.

We are placing greater requirements than ever before on the building industry and, as a result, our buildings are of better quality, safer, more accessible, sustainable and energy efficient.

Creating great buildings requires teamwork involving a range of professions: architects, surveyors, engineers and builders, to name but a few.

The 'building excellence awards' reward and recognise those in the industry for consistently carrying out work to a high standard, and for creating buildings which improve the quality of life in our communities.

The awards showcase building and design teams that have developed innovative and creative solutions to complex construction and site issues.

My thanks and congratulations go to all the nominees for setting a standard of excellence to which others may aspire.

Head of Regeneration and Development

DESCRIPTION: BEST CHANGE OF USE/CONVERSION
ADDRESS: LLANGYNWYD COMMUNITY CENTRE, LLANGYNWYD
CONTRACTOR: LLANGYNWYD COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION
ARCHITECT: DAVID GREGSON LIMITED

This former St Stephens Church was last used as an artist's studio. Situated in a prominent position on the square in Llangynwyd, it had been left to fall into a state of disrepair.

Llangynwyd Community Association has completely refurbished the building, whilst retaining and 'bringing back to life' many of the buildings features and charms. The investigative work of removing and restoring some of the building's original features requires a special mentio, as they could so easily have been lost.

The works themselves were carried out by local tradesmen and, where possible, all materials were sourced locally.

LLAN HALL RENOVATION LAUDED AT BUILDING AWARDS

Project Manager David Jenkins, Architect David Gregson, Cathy Sierra, Mary Jones and Margaret Thomas, from Llangynwyd Community Association.

The conversion of the former St Stephens Church to become Llangynwyd Village Hall has earned the Llangynwyd Community Association an accolade at Bridgend County Borough Council's annual LABC Building Excellence Awards.

Originally built in the 19th century as a school, the building was later used as a church up until the 1990s, when it became an artist's studio, before falling into disrepair.

After their old village hall was destroyed by a fire around the turn of the millennium, the Llangynwyd Community Association began raising funds to build a new hall and identified the former church as their ideal venue.

A decade of fundraising followed and, having successfully obtained the grants they required, the association were able to buy the building and they opened it around a year ago after many months of renovation work.

The result is a building that has become a popular asset for the local community, and the project was selected as the winner of the 'Best change of use or conversion' honour at the council's ninth annual building control awards. The project was also selected by the council as the recipient of its 'Special planning award'.

Councillor Phil White, Bridgend County Borough Council's Cabinet Member for Communities, said: "Using local tradesmen, the Llangynwyd Community Association have completely refurbished the building to a high class standard while retaining its original charm. For example, it even contains the bell that was used in the old school over a century ago. The Association must be complimented on their commitment to the project and for providing a bustling facility that can be used by current and future generations of the local community."

Project manager David Jenkins said: "We are gobsmacked to receive this award, as we thought we had only been nominated. The conversion of the building was a real community effort using local firms and it is great to see so many people using the hall."

Best Individual New Home

DESCRIPTION: BEST INDIVIDUAL NEW HOUSE

ADDRESS: AZAHAR, HEOL BRYNCWILS, SARN

CONTRACTOR: CHRIS BEVAN BUILDERS

ARCHITECT:
PLANABUILD LIMITED, 3 LABURNUM DRIVE, PORTHCAWL

This former 'brownfield' site was in a difficult topographical location, on the edge of the village of Sarn – which encompassed surface water/drainage problems from the outset, as well as ground compaction and fill to prevent further settlement. There were also problems with the location of the South Western Distribution electrical transformer located on the eastern side of the site, which limited the ability to excavate in this area without constant monitoring from the electric companies.

With the architects' design and re-positioning of the building from the outset, this allowed minimal excavation against the transformer and has provided a sheltered and completely private raised patio area for the owner. The detached property has been built to an extremely high standard of fitment and workmanship.

The contemporary layouts are both stylish and modern and have been designed specifically with the end user in mind, easily allowing adaption to ground floor only living, as the owner requested for their latter years.

Best LABC Supervisor of The Year

PROPOSAL: DAVE HODGES
CONTRACTOR: LLANMOOR HOMES

DAVE HODGES has been an integral part of Llanmoor Homes since he started as a site agent in 2006, and has worked on many of their successful housing projects throughout south Wales.

He is currently site manager on their large development at Gerddi Pentref, which forms part of the Parc Derwen complex in Coity, Bridgend.

The site consists of 14 different house types, of which Dave has a thorough working knowledge, consistently producing properties which achieve low figures when air tested, and SAP ratings on completion that match their intended design.

LABC CYMRU

Best Public Service Building & Best Inclusive Building

DESCRIPTION:
NEW CARE HOME

ADDRESS:
HEOL GELLI LENOR, MAESTEG, BRIDGEND

CONTRACTOR:
PENDRAGON (DESIGN AND BUILD) LIMITED

ARCHITECT:
PENTAN PARTNERSHIP

Heol Gelli Lenor is a complex developed by Valleys to Coast Housing Association for residential supported living for people with disabilities.

The building has been designed in a contemporary style that responds to the environment. Its robust construction consists of face brickwork to the external finishes that appears aesthetically strong, but also comprises areas of render and timber cladding, providing a contrast of lighter and softer materials.

The site itself follows the topography of the Nant Sychbant valley, which alone brought its own problems; with the construction being built into the hillside, the 'tanking' detail had to be installed and made available for the manufacturers to sign off. The 'permacrib' walls, as well as providing support, also gave enclosure to the site.

The development provides supported residential accommodation for people with disabilities and exceeds standards, to offer flexibility for the future.

Based on the principles of inclusive design both the external and internal environment is designed to be accessible to all residents, staff and visitors including disabled people with varying degrees of mobility and people with sensory impairments. All parts of the scheme are designed and have been built to meet the guidance of Approved Document M of the Building Regulations BS8300 and the Welsh Government Development Quality Requirements.

Internally, the building is fully wheelchair-accessible and incorporates assisted bathrooms with hoists, to allow for complete movement. Door ironmongery is ergonomically designed for the end user.

Externally, access routes by way of ramps, with changes of level defined by changes in materials, leads to an outside space with impressive views of the Nant Sychbant Valley.

The collaborative working between Building Control, Pentan Architects, Pendragon and Valleys to Coast Housing has resulted in a fully accessible building.

Best Extension or Alterations to Existing Home

EXTENSIONS AND ALTERATIONS

ADDRESS:
10 SANDPIPER CLOSE, NOTTAGE, PORTHCAWL

CONTRACTOR:
MOORE CONSTRUCTION & SONS

ARCHITECT: MARK ROBINSON

This 1970s-style bungalow has been completely refurbished, both internally and externally, to provide a two storey, four-bedroom deluxe property, incorporating a bespoke internal living space, and with an external appearance that is functional in terms of maintenance due to the choice of finishes, while also pleasing to the eye, and in contrast to the seaside environment.

The internal open plan layout called for innovative and creative solutions in the design and build process, this involved the introduction of a steel frame to provide integrity to the structure, and an increase in the thermal efficiency of the fabric, to allow for the large percentage of glazed area.

in accordance with the design SAP calculation, the works were undertaken with precision and skill by the builder to achieve the high standard of finishes demanded by the client/architect, the result being a property of exceptional quality.

ARCHITECT:
KEW ARCHITECTURAL AND STRUCTURAL DESIGN

The development is the result of a successful company requiring additional floorspace to expand their business. The building comprises a new steel portal framed unit with two-storey ancillary office 2 accommodation. The premises have an overall footprint of 800m and are used to manufacture PVC windows and doors, with welfare and disabled wc facilities.

The building has been constructed on vacant land and was designed to reflect the character, style and scale of the surrounding properties. The materials used were selected with due consideration to sustainability and energy efficiency, and meet the thermal requirements of Approved Document L2A. A sustainable urban drainage system providing attenuation and control of surface water run-off, has been introduced to prevent overloading of the main drainage system.

Old comrades plan a Nile cruise reunion

THIS year, Middle East Land Forces Association arranged our final visit to the Canal Zone of Egypt where, along with thousands of other service personnel (and, I am sure, many of your readers) we served and lost many of our comrades who are now buried in the War Graves Commission Cemeteries of Fayid – Ismailia – Moascar – Tel-el-Kebir.

I have been arranging these visits since 1993 and we decided that this April (that group is now full), would be our final visit to the above cemeteries to pay our final respects.

We also decided that we would keep in touch and arrange meetings although we are now in our 70s and 80s.

So we decided that our first get-together, now that we have made our final visit (over 50 visits) to the camps and cemeteries of the Canal zone, should be for us to see the part of Egypt that we never had the chance to see during our service days.

Therefore, we are arranging a reunion on a Nile Cruise ship for one week, cruising from Luxor to Aswan and back to Luxor, seeing the sights that we heard about but never saw.

Many of your readers I am sure either served in the forces in the Canal Zone during those terrible times, or knew someone who had.

If anyone would like to join us on this reunion Nile Cruise visit they would be welcome. I have 12 places left – spouses are welcome.

I would send full details of this reunion visit and I would apply for visas etc, using the same agents we used for our Canal zone visits.

We are flying from London Heathrow on November 23 and returning on November 30.

A GEM READER TELLS OF MUM'S POIGNANT TALE OF THE ARSENAL

I HAVE been very interested in your recent series of photographs in respect of the workers at the Bridgend Arsenal and to read Mrs Cecilia Pickering's letter in last week's GEM (March 5).

Like many women wishing to participate in the war effort, my late mother, Gwyneth Rustell (nee Williams), went to work in the Arsenal as a young woman in her late teens.

After a period of time and appropriate training, she became an inspector, which meant that she was responsible for checking metal boxes of gunpowder-filled detonators before they were sealed ready for transportation from the factory to the Armed Services.

As Mrs Pickering said in her letter, it was "quite dangerous work!"

Two months after her 21st birthday in January 1943, my mother was unlucky enough to handle a box of faulty detonators which exploded causing devastating injuries to both hands and showering her upper body in splinters of shrapnel and other fragments of metal from the work bench.

Had these detonators been in perfect working condition, she would have been killed immediately; however, the explosion 'blew downwards', with the result that she lost all the fingers of her left hand, while sustaining very serious injuries to the right.

She spent the following year in a specialist burns hospital in Gloucestershire, where she underwent numerous operations to re-build her hands using muscle, tissue and skin from her legs, which was a very long and painful process.

During this time she met and befriended other young people, including some young airmen who had been very badly burned when their planes were attacked.

Through their terrible experiences, these young people bonded together, forming a tight-knit support group and she often spoke of the kindness shown to them by local people whenever they ventured out beyond the hospital grounds into the local town.

Prior to her accident, my parents had talked of marriage but my mother refused to contemplate getting married until she could be completely independent.

Eventually, in 1948 five years after her accident, she and my father married, with me arriving the following year.

I grew up with stories of the Arsenal and despite all that had happened she always spoke of her time there without a trace of bitterness. She spoke of the camaraderie between colleagues who each day faced the unimaginable stress of undertaking such dangerous work, together with the constant threat of discovery, as German bombers were actively seeking the location of the Arsenal on a daily basis.

Sadly, there were terrible accidents during its lifetime – probably far more than we shall ever know and I am sure that, for many former Arsenal workers, there must be a feeling that recognition of the work of these extraordinary people has come a little too late for many.

My mother? Well, she never let her disability get in the way of her personal progress. She became an active member of the Cowbridge Red Cross, even participating in voluntary nursing duties at two local hospitals, which she very much enjoyed.

Eventually, she became the branch Commandant (Senior Officer) and during the Red Cross centenary year she was invited to a Buckingham Place garden party.

Alongside other voluntary groups, members of Cowbridge Red Cross were among the first to respond to the Aberfan Disaster, where my mother worked for several days.

As early responders, they were assigned to work in the mortuary, where they were asked to prepare the victims, the majority of whom were children, for identification.

She never spoke of this dreadful experience, although for all who were there it left a very dark shadow in their lives.

On a happier note, she also joined Llanblethian and later Cowbridge WI, where she made many lasting friendships. She and my father were very well known in Cowbridge and for many years enjoyed a very active social life.

She was never defined by what happened to her in the Arsenal and in truth, many people were unaware of her disability as she was extremely adept at working around any problem.

Throughout her life, she had to contend with bits of shrapnel, small nuts and screws 'floating about' in her hands and arms, which often required surgical removal but she took it all in her stride with a positive mindset.

No doubt, she would have been most interested in the recent interest shown and doubtless could have put names to faces and perhaps she and Mrs Pickering even knew each other?

Mrs KATHIE EVANS, Cowbridge

Helping you to hear again in a digital age

AS we get older, many of us will start to experience problems with our hearing and it is important that you have your hearing checked if you notice it is not clear.

If your friends and family sound as if they mumble, or when you're in groups or background noise it's difficult to hear conversation, you can withdraw or switch off because it's difficult to understand, then you may have a hearing problem.

As this happens, your brain processing power slowly slows down if it's not hearing things properly and this can cause confusion as you start to misunderstand what's being said. It's important to correct your hearing levels.

At Apple Hearing and Healthcare we provide a free, no-obligation hearing assessment and demonstration of the latest hearing aids that connect to your TV, so you can hear programmes perfectly, even if the volume on the TV is turned right down.

Visit us at the Barry Eye Centre Opticians or arrange a free home visit and experience the next generation of digital hearing aids.

COWBRIDGE TEAM RUNNERS-UP IN ROTARY YOUTH SPEAKS FINAL

Intermediate section winners: Morgan James, Lowri Haskell, and Lauryn Stokes with Rotary District Governor Sandra Townsend.

COWBRIDGE Comprehensive School was the venue on Friday, March 6 for the Rotary District 1150 Youth Speaks final.

It was hosted by the Rotary Club of Cowbridge and organised by president elect Paul Halstead and his fellow members of the Barry club.

Seven teams competed in the Intermediate Section (11 – 13 year olds). The team from Ysgol Gyfun Cwm Rhymni, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Pontllanfraith, whose topic was 'Man's best friend', were the winners and the team sponsored by the Rotary Club of Cowbridge from 293 (Cowbridge) Squadron ATC, whose topic was, 'Will space tourism change humanity for the better?' were District 1150 runners-up.

Judges in the intermediate section were Mr Phil McCaffrey, Mr Colin Lyons and Mrs Eileen Younghusband. Announcing the prize winners, chairman of the judges, Phil McCaffrey said that speaking in public was an important, valuable and necessary life skill. He praised the high standards set by some of the young competitors.

In the senior section (14 – 17-year-olds), eight teams competed and the team from St John's College, Cardiff, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Cardiff, Llanishen were the winners; their chosen topic was 'Learning Foreign Languages is a cultural necessity'.

Runners-up were Ysgol Dyffryn Taf, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Narberth and Whitland. Their chosen topic was, 'This House believes that we should support stem-cell research'.

In line with national rules, speakers in both the intermediate and senior sections had to answer a question from the audience to show their understanding of their chosen topic.

Judges in the senior section were Mr Graeme Milnes, Mr Glyn Morris and Mr Laurie Pavelin. Speaking on behalf of the judges, Mr Milnes spoke again of the high standards set by the contestants.

Presenting the prizes, District 1150 Governor Sandra Townsend paid tribute to everyone – competitors, parents, teachers and Rotarians – who had worked so hard to make this round of the competition so successful.

Winning teams will go on to the regional final,which will be held in England on Saturday, March 21.

Macmillan appoints first Welsh Chief Executive

MACMILLAN Cancer Support has appointed its first ever Welsh Chief Executive – Porthcawl-born Lynda Thomas.

The fluent Welsh speaker is a former pupil of Ysgol Llanhari in Pontyclun and is former director of fundraising at the charity.

She started her career working in communications for charities including Action for Children and NSPCC.

he joined Macmillan in 2001 as head of media, where she developed the charity's campaigning arm and was part of the team that oversaw the development of the award-winning brand. She was promoted to board level as Director of External Affairs in 2007.

In August 2011 she became Director of Fundraising where she led the charity's 400-strong fundraising team, which has increased fundraising income by more than a third in the last three years.

In November 2014, Lynda took on the role of Macmillan's Chief Executive Officer (Interim) while a permanent CEO was recruited.

Lynda is also a trustee at the Institute of Fundraising, Women's Sport & Fitness Foundation and a director on the Fundraising Standards Board.

Susan Morris, General Manager for Macmillan in Wales, said: "I'm delighted that Lynda will be our new Chief Executive.

"She has long been a champion for Wales and is passionate about improving the lives of everyone affected by cancer. She will be a huge asset to Macmillan across the UK."

Lynda commented: "Having worked at Macmillan for almost 14 years, I know only too well the huge difference we make to the lives of people affected by cancer so I feel truly honoured to become Macmillan's new CEO.

"With the number of people affected by cancer in Wales set to reach 250,000 by 2030, we have a huge challenge ahead, but I believe Macmillan has never been better placed to deliver the support and change needed to ensure no one faces cancer alone."

LYNDA THOMAS.

A GROUP of Volkswagen retailers is calling on motorists to help support fundraising efforts for Comic Relief tomorrow (March 13).

Sinclair Volkswagen staff in Bridgend, Cardiff, Newport, Neyland, Port Talbot and Swansea are all involved in the fundraising and aim to raise as much money as they can for such a worthy cause.

At Sinclair Volkswagen, car enthusiasts are asked to drop into one of the showrooms, purchase a red nose 'funny face' sticker, write their name on it, and place it on one of the six Volkswagen up! cars.

The stickers can be purchased for £2, and for each one placed on the car, Sinclair will donate a further £1.

RHYDIAN (8) BAGS WINNING ART DESIGN!

A BARRY schoolboy has bagged a big prize in an art competition organised by the town's Tesco store to tell customers about their Click + Collect Groceries online shopping service.

Rhydian John (aged 8) of Oakfield Primary School, won £300 for the school, plus a £25 Tesco gift card for him.

His winning artwork has been printed on 250 re-usable jute shopping bags which will be distributed free to parents and children at his school.

REPORT by PHILIP IRWIN

LOCAL residents objecting to a development is nothing out of the ordinary – but at Rhoose Point, it is neighbouring developers who are doing the objecting!

The matter will probably be discussed at the meeting of the Vale Council's planning committee tonight (Thursday) when plans by Taylor Wimpey to build 350 homes and a new school come up for consideration.

For this application Taylor Wimpey is the builder, and South Wales Land Development is the landowner.

However, two other landowners, who are intending to build homes on a neighbouring site, are not happy, and have issued a joint press release urging South Wales Land Development to work with them on important aspects of the infrastructure – in particular anti-flooding measures.

However, Taylor Wimpey have responded with a statement saying that they have made "significant efforts" to work with the other developers over a period of 15 years, with no success.

The Hardy and Davies families, whose adjoining 30 acres of land is the subject of a planning application by Persimmon and Bellway Homes, are appealing to South Wales Land Development to collaborate with them to invest in solutions to address flooding problems and congestion issues in Rhoose.

The joint statement said: "The scheme by Persimmon and Bellway Homes (land to the east) to develop 350 new houses includes the creation of a new road that will provide access from Pentir Y De and a new sewage drainage system to Porthkerry pumping station.

"The sewage drainage system will accommodate the new homes from the eastern site and the 350 homes and the school on the site to the West. There will also be a new surface drainage scheme which will divert water by gravity pipe direct to the sea and eliminate flooding from both development sites and the whole area".

Land in Rhoose where new houses are to be built.

The two families say that the Taylor Wimpey scheme has been the subject of objections by the public due to the concerns that it will cause further congestion and flooding, a claim strongly denied by Taylor Wimpey.

Network Rail has also objected to the South Wales Land Development plans due to concerns over the diversion of a public footpath.

According to the joint statement, South Wales Land Development has refused to speak to the Hardy and Davies families until a planning committee decision has been made on the Taylor Wimpey proposal.

It goes on to say that further objections have been raised as the proposed surface water scheme by Taylor Wimpey is untested and could result in flooding for Rhoose residents.

There will also only be a pedestrian link between the school being built on land to the west and the recreational facilities on land to the east. The Persimmon and Bellway Homes scheme provides "vehicular and pedestrian access" between the school and recreation facilities.

If the Taylor Wimpey scheme is agreed and access between the school and recreational facilities is required in the future, it will be at a cost for the tax payer.

Mr Philip Thomas spokesman for the landowners of the eastern development said: "We strongly urge Taylor Wimpey and South Wales Land Development to join our comprehensive scheme which would provide a more accessible property development.

"We believe it is important to work together so that the development is as appealing as possible to future house buyers and causes minimum disruption to Rhoose residents.

"The site proposed by Taylor Wimpey and South Wales Land Development will most likely cause further congestion in an already busy area. We want to ensure our development helps the Rhoose residents by cutting down congestion and eliminating flooding, but we can only do this if the council and residents help us encourage Taylor Wimpey and South Wales Land Development to join our scheme and the council reject their proposals".

A decision on the Taylor Wimpey scheme could be made at the planning meeting tonight (Thursday).

Coun Philip Clarke represents Rhoose on the Vale Council, and he has similar concerns.

He said: "I believe that Taylor Wimpey has submitted this application rather than negotiate and pay towards the infrastructure costs (roads and drainage) for the whole site.

"My main concern is that the proposed surface water scheme could cause future flooding. Furthermore, there is a 'ransom strip' between these sites which could be breached by compulsory purchase in the future to join up the roads within the site and would be at great cost to the taxpayer.

"I have noted correspondence that the Vale Council's planning department has stated that this proposal is not good planning.

"As an independent elected member I recommend that this application is refused on the basis that the comprehensive scheme for the whole site regarding drainage and highways is the only option for resolving this matter in the long term interests of the residents".

Vale Council planning officers are recommending that the scheme should go ahead, subject to a number of conditions.

A Taylor Wimpey spokesperson responded: "Our outline planning application for 350 houses, a new primary school, public open space and pedestrian/cycle links is supported by a surface water drainage strategy which allows the site to be developed independently of third-party land.

"This strategy will include measures to improve the drainage of the site in its current state by storing surface water from heavy rainfall events and restricting its flow to the existing local drainage network. Our drainage proposals for the site have been developed as the application has progressed and are fully supported by officers at the local planning authority.

"Contrary to claims, significant efforts to work with neighbouring developers on comprehensive development have been made over a period of 15 years, but these have proved unsuccessful. It is our view that the only way to deliver much-needed homes on this site – and in doing so allow the council to deliver a new local school and provide a number of other associated community benefits – is to pursue a scheme with standalone access and drainage solutions.

"After being subjected to rigorous analysis, our application is supported by both local policy and council planning officers and the scheme stands on its merits."

LLANTWIT UNDER-10s IN A FINE VICTORY

AFTER a hard defeat last week to St Peters, Llantwit Major under-10s were back on their home ground, trying to shake off the loss.

Old Penarthians were welcomed to Llantwit on a very miserable morning to play four 10 minute quarters.

Llantwit started the game with very strongly, with some great running from Sam A, Sam H and Dylan M, all three of whom scored in the first quarter.

Old Pens were strong and disciplined, and it took Llantwit some great passages of play to break through the defensive line.

Llantwit's defence was determined not to let anything past them, and they worked hard to keep the Old Pens out.

It was Llantwit who got the upper hand again in the second quarter, with four more tries coming before half time from Iwan, Rhys D, Rhys G and Sam A.

At the start of the third quarter the Old Pens came out fighting, determined to get a score on the board, and putting constant pressure on Llantwit's defence. Eventually they opened up a small gap, enough for a fantastic run from one of their players to score their first try of the match. With their heads up, the Old Pens were after another score, and with some determined tackles and strong running they were able to break through Llantwits line for a second time.

The Old Pens were attacking hard, but Llantwit lined up and managed to keep them out and create space for their own player, Tom, to break through and run for the line to score Llantwit's eighth try of the match.

The final quarter of the match, saw some great rucking from Llantwit, gaining turnover ball and then passing down their line, opening the field for one final try of the match from Sam H.

The final score was Llantwit 9, Old Penarthians 2; try scorers: Sam A (2), Sam H (2), Dylan M, Iwan, Rhys D, Rhys G and Tom. Man of the match: Corey for putting himself everywhere on the pitch.

Squad: Corey Lougher, Tom Roberts, Logan Pike, Sam Harry, Iwan Thomas, Owen Hill, Dylan Morgan, Caleb Beare, Rhys Greenaway, Abraham Farrell, Aneurin Price, Rhys Davies, Olly Williams, Sam Alexander, William Harrison-Watts, Josh Wakeham, Cristian Parry, Dylan Wright and, playing his debut match for Llantwit, Ollie Jenkins.*

A big thank you and well done to our newly qualified referee Lee Wood.

'Don't let our village turn into a town!'

NEVER before have we written to a newspaper, nor are we politically minded; however, we do feel very strongly about the new proposals for the development of a further 350 houses north-west of Rhoose Railway line, hence this letter.

Having chosen specifically to live in Rhoose over 13 years ago, we did so because it was a small, quiet, friendly village. Sadly, planning permission has already recently been granted for350 homes to be built to the north-east of the railway line.

This will substantially add to the already over-burdened, meagre facilities available in Rhoose, not to mention the resulting increase in traffic.

We accept that most villages throughout the Vale feel the same regarding development but the enormous increase of 700, we believe, is unprecedented.

These houses do not appear generally to be falling within the category of inexpensive first-time buyer/social housing, which most of us accept is required in rural areas but not in such high numbers for Rhoose, so for whose benefit are they really being built?

Although the proposed area is not rated as being of any real conservational interest, it does, however, have a bat colony of some interest and is a green area, one of few remaining in the actual village.

Surely there are brown areas available in the Vale more suitable. The latest amendments made to the proposals are also very questionable - they may well cause flooding problems for Rhoose Point residents and will almost certainly cause traffic problems for Porthkerry Road and backing-up of traffic in surrounding roads especially at peak times.

We pray that someone, somewhere will see sense and stop this further development before it is too late to save our lovely village, turning it into a town without the necessary infrastructure to support it.

The battle to save the area north-east has already been lost – please don't let us lose this battle, too.

The benefits of speaking Welsh

I WOULD like to say thank you to Peter Reed, who in response to my letter in The GEM, is making an attempt to 'enlighten' me on the joys of being able to speak Welsh, and why it would be of benefit to my life!

I am no Nationalist, would not be encouraged to vote for a specific political party because of the language I spoke, or would I want to be given a guarantee of a job for the same reason either.

What the writer seems to be saying is that if a Scots, English or Irish person were better qualified than a Welsh-speaking person to fill a vacancy at S4C, BBC Wales, etc, or the WAG, the Welsh-speaking applicant would get the job – even though under-qualified!

The response has an unhealthy tone about it, and the footnote added to the letter says it all.

Anne Usher, Barry.

'Four reasons why Island does not need fairground'

WE do not need a fairground in Barry Island again – and there are at least four simple reasons why:

• There is no infrastructure to support it, a lack of permanent vehicle parking for increased visitors on the Island, and the knock-on effect throughout the whole town of increased congestion.

• Increased noise and disruption for Barry Island residents.

• Proximity to a large supermarket and up to 2,000 new dwellings; placing it at the centre of a mainly residential area.

• The impact on the attractiveness of Barry Island as a tourist destination. Many people visit the Island because it offers a respite from the demands of urban living.

They want to spend time in an environment that is rejuvenating and sustaining.

Why should the short-sighted demands of a few businessmen and the lack of a long-term vision by our elected representatives destroy the potential of a small oasis of calm in an environment that has been vastly overdeveloped?

Barry Island should be free to everyone, not just those who have enough money to buy the goods and services being offered. How many Barry residents will be able to afford the high cost of temporary funfair rides?

The land the fairground stood on should be designated an open park, with small commercial enterprises and access to all.

It is time for some creative big thinking and sensitive action. We need to learn and move on from the safety of our past and develop a present and future for our children that is nurturing and enriching.

The picture of the Waterfront development shows how close it is to Barry Island. The new Island road is going to have four sets of traffic lights, giving some indication as to the amount of congestion anticipated in that area.

Glyn Pooley, Barry (artist).

(Do other GEM readers agree or disagree that Barry Island does not need a fairground?)

'Please stop the politics!'

PLEASE, Mr Cairns, stop politicking! It is the Conservatives who are responsible for the council tax increase and are determined to take us back to the 1930s.

They want the private sector (for profit) to take over public services (just look at home care, etc).

They don't care for those less well off, who can't get a job, or the disabled and disaffected (welfare sanctions, bedroom tax, etc).

A Phillips, Barry.

Who remembers Wren Wilson?

THOUSANDS of people all over the country, including many readers of your newspaper, served at the Royal Navy shore training establishment HMS Collingwood.

HMS Collingwood Association has received this request to track down a Wren, or her family, and her service history:

"I have in my possession a long service and good conduct medal; written on the side is 42359 J M Wilson, Chief Wren HMS Collingwood. If you know of anyone who could help in my search for information, I would be very grateful."

We hope to return the medals to her or her family. Did you serve with Chief Wren J M Wilson, either when she was a Chief, or at any time before? Is 42359 near your Service number?

The association would like to hear from any of your readers.

Those wishing to join the association are just in time for our next reunion to be held at the Hillcrest Hotel, Widnes, on April 17–20, email hmscollingwood42@gmail.com or contact Shirley Winn on 01983 405116.

I am certain your readers will come up trumps.

Time to focus on plans for your dream home

EASTER is falling early this year, and that means it is almost time to make a start on improvements to the home or garden.

A long winter has given homeowners the chance to plan and daydream about what needs doing, and how to go about doing it.

This week's GEM feature offers the chance to find an expert to advise you, or a supplier who has just what you need, or a craftsman who can make your dream project a reality.

Whether it's a question of tackling some heavy work in the garden, cleaning or repairing your household appliances, or looking for a new item of furniture – there is a local supplier that is a perfect match for you!

It's amazing how some sunny days can focus the mind.

It may still be the same winter garden that looked so grim in the rain and the cold, but sunshine makes it a potential oasis again.

Suddenly, it is so much easier to imagine how things will look when that new path has been laid, or when that new water feature is on stream.

The same thing applies in the home. There is nothing like sunshine streaming in through the windows to focus the mind on how that shabby room might look with a little imagination and TLC.

There are so many local traders who can help make any project in the home or garden come to fruition – no matter how ambitious or modest it may be.

Easter is the traditional catalyst for home improvement projects, so this year you have the opportunity to make an early start.

Get planning and good luck!

Gardening expert's talk

NEXT Wednesday (March 18) following the AGM of Cowbridge Physic Garden, there will be a talk by horticulture expert Bob Brown, and members of the public are invited to attend.

A spokesman said: "Bob Brown is founder and proprietor of Cotswold Garden Flowers, in Evesham, Worcestershire. He is a superb plantsman, a stalwart of the RHS and displays an enthusiastic and encyclopaedic knowledge of plants, flowers and their care and attention.

"He is also a highly entertaining speaker and is full of such wisdoms as –-'Perennials are the ones that grow like weeds, biannuals are the ones that die this year instead of next, and hardy annuals are the ones that never come up at all.'"

The talk takes place at the Quentin Suite, Bear Hotel, Cowbridge at 7.30pm. Tickets £5 (available at the door). All welcome to attend.

SOLID ROOF CREATES A CONSERVATORY TO 'LIVIN' WHATEVER THE WEATHER

Conservatories are a great way of adding a light and airy room to any home. However, depending on where the conservatory is positioned and the amount of shade outside, it can let in too much light.

Too much sunlight can mean the conservatory gets very warm in summer and, even on a bright winter day, make it difficult to watch TV, browse an iPad or work on a computer.

At Securahome we are now able to offer an alternative to polycarbonate or glass – a solid roof.

Called a Livin Roof, this system can be fitted to an existing conservatory, so there is no need to change the existing walls and glazing.

Thanks to Kingspan insulation, the Livin Roof is 15 times more thermally efficient than a polycarbonate or old glass roof without solar control, meaning the conservatory will be warmer in winter.

For those who don't enjoy the, all-too-common, pitter-patter of raindrops, the Livin Roof also improves sound insulation compared to polycarbonate and glass.

The inside of the roof is a plaster-boarded to keep an airy and modern 'vaulted ceiling' feel, meaning it can be finished with down-lighters or pendant lights. With the option to add glazed panels to the Livin Roof, it's even possible to keep a view of the heavens!

Who wants to build what, and where in the Vale?

Passed away peacefully on Tuesday February 24, aged 86.

Requiem Mass to be held at Our Lady and St. Illtyd, Ham Lane, Llantwit Major, on Thursday, 19th March at 11am. We request no black, and in lieu of flowers donations can be made to St Vincent de Paul Society.

Whiskers - We love you and your memory will remain forever in our hearts. All our love, Anthony, Kerry, Tina and all the brats.

THOMAS

Trevor Ernest

Unexpectedly, but peacefully, passed away in his 88th year on Monday, March 2, following a short illness. Trevor, of Rhodfa Felin, Barry, formerly Fonmon Road, Rhoose and Aberthaw Power Station. Dearly loved husband of 63 years to the late Wyn (Winifred) whom he missed so much. Beloved dad of Lesley and Debra. Cherished grampy to Melanie and husband Eddie, great grampy to Jacob and Imogen. Father-in-law to the late Robert Evans (Bob). Loved by so many and sadly missed by family and friends, a real gentleman in every way who always had a ready smile, kind word and touched everyone with his loving heart.

Funeral service at 2pm, Thursday March 19, at Cardiff and Glamorgan Memorial Park Crematorium, Barry, leaving home 1.30pm. All welcome to Rhodfa Felin after the service. Family flowers only please but enquiries and donations towards the family's chosen local charity can be made on the day or to Lyndsay Ellis @ The Vale Funeral Service, 181 Court Road, Barry, CF63 1EX, 01446 407962.

Now reunited with his dear wife Wyn, Trevor will be in all our hearts for evermore.

MORGAN

Noela Sophia

Passed away at Baltimore House Care Home, Barry on February 26th, Noela, formerly of the Waters Edge, the Knap, Barry. Dearly beloved wife of Jim, much loved mum of Gwyn, Gareth, and Richard and his fiance Lisa, mother-in-law of Carolyn. Adored gran of Darren, Kathryn and James, loving sister of Meirion, Ann, Esther and Rowena, loving aunt to all her nieces and nephews.

A memorial service for Noela will be held at the Tabernacle Chapel, Holton Road, Barry on Thursday, March 19th at 2pm, followed by a private family only cremation service at a later date. Donations in memory of Noela in lieu of flowers to The Alzheimer's Society, Cardiff & Vale, Oldwell Court, Ty Gwyn Road, Cardiff CF23 5DA.

OVERY

John McConnell

(Ex Royal Air Force)

One year ago on 14th March, you peacefully slipped away. Treasured memories of a lovely Husband, Dad, Grandad, Great-Grandad, Brother, Uncle and Brother-in-law.

No one knows how much I miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain,
I have suffered since I lost you,
Life has never been the same.
In my heart your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, my sweetheart,
That I do not think of you.
"In God's garden we will meet again"

Just a prayer from the family who loved you,
Just a memory fond and true,
In our hearts you will live forever,
Because we thought the world of you.

All our love Doreen & family xxx

STUART

Catherine (Kate)

Peacefully on March 4. Dearly loved wife of Harry. Wonderful mother and grandmother. Funeral service on Friday, March 20 at St Cadoc's Roman Catholic Church, Cowbridge at 1pm, followed by cremation at Coychurch Crematorium at 2.45pm.

Family flowers only, but donations to The Alzheimers Society.

WATTS

Basil William

Passed away peacefully on Sunday, March 8, surrounded by his loving family. Beloved husband of Rosalie (Rose), devoted father of Liza and James, loving bampy of Nathan and Maddie.

Funeral service at Coychurch Crematorium on Wednesday, March 18 at 1.15pm. Family flowers only, donations, if desired, to Y Bwthyn Newydd, Princess of Wales Hospital, Bridgend, CF31 1RQ.

OSBORNE

Elizabeth (Betty)

Nee Ashton

You left us and already so much our hearts feel so empty, until we remember and fill them with all the memories of you, so many wonderful memories, where do we begin? You sweet little spitfire and your special Osborne smile. A special person to everyone who knew you, but always OURS.

God bless, your loving husband Les, your 6 children and their spouses, your 14 grandchildren and 4 great grand children.

Betty is resting at Vale Funeral Home, 181 Court Road, Barry until her service at Cadoxton Methodist Church on Thursday, 19 March at 10.45am, followed by a private family committal service.

Family flowers only – donations if desired may be made at the service to Cancer Research Wales or Barry RNLI.

MASON

Clarice

Peacefully at her home on 9 March, Clarice of Llantwit Major. Dearly loved wife of the late Tom and loving mother to Paul, Wyndham and Wynnette. She was a much loved grandmother and great grandmother and will be sadly missed.

Resting at W.A. Brown & Son, College Street, Llantwit Major until the funeral service on Friday, 20 March in Bethel Baptist Church at 10.15am, followed by cremation at Coychurch Crematorium at 11.30am. Family flowers only but donations may be made to British Heart Foundation (cheques only) c/o the Funeral Home. No black to be worn, but gentlemen to wear red rugby shirts if possible.

MOLLART

Shirley Vivienne

The family of Shirley would like to thank their wonderful friends and neighbours for their support at this sad time, also the Reverend Huw for his beautiful service and kind words of comfort and hope. God Bless You All.

SQUIRES

Ronald Charles (Ron)

Peacefully on 5 March in the presence of his family at Holme Tower, Bridgeman Road, Penarth. Ronald Charles (Ron), aged 75 years of Dinas Powys, previously of Bridgend. Dearly loved husband of Marilyn, a loving father of Jill, Lynne and Dawn. Father-in-law of Ian, Jane, and Carl. Cherished bampy of James, Ben, Rhys, Nia and Max. Loved brother of Reg and Pam.

Ron will be sadly missed by all of his family and friends.

Resting at A.G. Adams & Son Funeral Home, Gladstone Road, Barry, where flowers may be sent, or if desired, donations may be handed to the funeral director after the funeral for Marie Curie Holme Tower, Bridgeman Road, Penarth. Funeral service at St Peter's Church, Dinas Powis on Tuesday, March 17 at 11am, afterwards interment at St Andrews Major Cemetery.

Lesley Anne Stewart

(nee Harris)

Vi and Jon Harris and family would like to thank everyone who has shown so much sympathy and friendship on the loss of Lesley, and also for the donations sent to the Dorothy House Hospice in her memory. We have been overwhelmed.

Whitmore Bay Surf Lifesaving Club's achievements of 2014

THE year started with the Welsh Stillwater Championships in Swansea where a number of medals were won in a number of different races in the pool.

Over the summer we attended all the local south Wales coast club championships. The weather was generally kind and all our nippers put in every effort and came away good placing's in events such as beach flags, sprints, board rescue and run-swim-run.

We hosted our second club championships which was a very successful day for all clubs who entered with Rhoose SLSC overall winners.

The highlight of the day was the tug of war challenge which was closely fought with Whitmore Bay eventual champions.

Together with St Johns Ambulance we were honoured to receive a Royal visit from HRH Duchess of Gloucester, who officially opened our refurbished lifeguard station.

A number of children and coaches demonstrated beach training skills and were awarded with a round of applause from her HRH and entourage!

September saw a group of mums and siblings take on their first triathlon to raise funds for the club. Consisting of a swim, bike and run, all completed it with a great sense of achievement and aching legs! The money raised has bought a new rescue board.

Following the success of this we are now planning a mini triathlon for the nippers and juniors later on this year.

In October a group of five parents completed their Beach Lifeguard Award to become qualified coaches which are invaluable to keep the club running.

It was with sadness that Roger Knight passed away, who had a lifelong attachment to the club. It was decided to dedicate an annual award in his memory, to the nipper who has shown real dedication and effort in all areas for the year and the very worthy first recipient was Iestyn Neale, aged 12.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all coaches who willingly give up their free time, parents and helpers and of course all the children who show such hard work and determination to make the club so successful. We are looking forward to another great year in 2015.

Quiet week for chess club

The week started with the Dyfed Congress in Fishguard. However for the first time in my memory there were no Barry players taking part.

In the league, only the Quarks had a match, away to the northerly outpost of Treorchy.

The Rhondda Spitfires were surprisingly promoted from division 4 last season and have struggled as expected this year.

After 12 games they have only 21 points. If they were to have any hope of avoiding relegation they needed to pick up 19 points from their remaining six games, while the Quarks' have won more matches than any other team but generally by a narrow margin.

Without the Quarks most reliable player, Chris Green, the Quarks could have struggled. However the team as a whole stepped up to the plate and drew the top three boards and won on the bottom two to earn a 3.5 to 1.5 victory.

This result has moved the Quarks back into the promotion spots in third place and leaves the Spitfires holding up the table.

The Barry Chess Club meets at 7.30pm each Monday at the West End Club. St. Nicholas Road, Barry CF62 6QY. The club is open to players of all standards; whether you are interested in playing competitive chess or just the occasional friendly games.

New players are very welcome to just turn up on the night but if you contact one of the club members through the website we can explain what is happening on the night you have in mind, and arrange for someone to greet you on your arrival.

Vale Karate dominate Welsh Karate League

PENARTH Leisure Centre was the venue on February 22 for the ninth and final Welsh Karate League (WKL) tournament of the season.

Throughout nine tournaments, beginning in April 2014, Wales' top clubs and top karate athletes have been locking horns to battle for the ultimate titles of Welsh Karate League's Champions of Champions.

Vale Karate have led the way throughout, and over the course of the season have won a record 105 gold medals, 94 silver and 139 bronzes!

Kloe Christoforato (14) was most successful individual, just ahead of Charlotte York (15) of Kansei Karate Schools.

Leah Copeland (20) was in third place overall, and the most successful adult having won eight of the nine Ladies' Kata events and three Ladies' Kumite titles.

Kloe has had a phenomenally successful season. She was individual champion in both under-14 Advanced Kata, where clubmate Josh Dwyer was second and in the under-16 Shotokan Kata, where the runner-up was Vale Karate's WUKF U12 European Kata Champion Chiara Baker.

Kloe was also a member of the winning under-14 team alongside Josh and Harrison Williams, and with her mum Heidi took the parent and child Kata title, being unbeaten all season in that event.

She visited the Champion of Champions podium for a fifth time when she earned second place overall in the under-14 Girls' Kumite, the title going to Trinity Hutchinson of WKJK based in Penarth.

In total, Vale Karate collected 14 Champion of Champions trophies as well as a further 22 second and third placed over the 39 categories.

The new season, which kicks off in May is set to be even bigger and better continuing to reinvigorate karate in Wales.

LEAGUE SETS DATES FOR FOOTBALL FINALS

THE Vale of Glamorgan Association Football League is holding its annual general meeting on Monday, June 15, at the Seaview Labour Club, commencing 7.15pm.

League secretary Matthew Davies also announced that it had been decided that the number of clubs affiliated to the league would not increase this year.

He said: "It is with regret that the league has decided it will not be accepting any new clubs into the senior section of the league from 2015/16. This will be monitored on a yearly basis."

The normal deadline for clubs to apply is March 30, but last-minute applications will not now be accepted.

In April, the Vale of Glamorgan Association Football League will hold the divisional finals for senior and youth leagues, as well as the Barry Cup Final. All matches will be held at Jenner Park. The schedule for the finals is as follows;

Friday, April 10 – Dockers Cup - Division 2 League Cup Final - KO 6.15pm. Sunday, April 12 – Supporters Cup – Division 1 League Cup Final - KO 2pm. Thursday, April 16 – Classic Sportswear Trophy – year-11 League Cup Final – KO 6.15pm.

Friday, April 17 – Brian Riseborough Trophy – year-7 League Cup Final – KO 6.15pm. Sunday, April 19 – Harry Gratton Trophy – year-9 League Cup Final – KO 10.15am. Sunday, April 19 – ASRS Cup – Premier Division League Cup Final – KO 2pm.

Friday, April 24 – Billy Butlin League Trophy – year-8 League Cup Final – KO 6.15pm. Sunday, April 26 – Steve Williams Trophy – year-10 League Cup Final – KO 10am. Sunday, April 26 – Barry Cup Final – KO 2pm.

Ladies team hold open evening

THE Vale Ladies & Girls Football Club is running an open evening on Thursday, March 12, at St Cyres School, Penarth for new players between 5pm-6pm.

This is an opportunity to come and meet the largest female football club in south Wales who offer football for girls from age six to senior ladies in the Vale and Cardiff areas.

The session will take place at the new indoor sports hall with club officials and players attending to answer any questions that parents or potential new players may have. Come and find out how you can get involved.

To attend the open evening, please email valegirlsfc@gmail.com or simply come along on the day.

ON AND OFF THE TURF WITH BRIAN LEE.

A FEW weeks ago, I received a telephone call from someone wanting to buy a copy of my self-published book The Races Came Off – The Story of Point-To-Point Racing in South and West Wales, which was published in 1986.

I told him that I only had a couple of copies left because when we moved house some 15 years ago, my dear wife and daughter had dumped boxes of them on to a skip.

I told my caller that he might be able to get hold of a copy on the Internet and he said he had tried but he didn't want to pay the £70 they were going for!

Anyway, for those of you who have been enjoying my Blast From The Past series of articles here is an excerpt from the book: "In 1976 two additional point-to-points were added to the Welsh calendar. One, the Banwen Miners' was a completely new one. The other, which was the Tivyside was making a reappearance after an absence of 10 years.

"The Banwen Miners', which was held on top of a mountain at Neath in West Glamorgan, had the honour of opening the season. Conditions underfoot were terrible and it wasn't only the horses that were slipping about all over the place.

"Both open races went to invaders, with Hiccup 11 from the Ludlow taking the ladies' race, and Drumnasilla from the South Hereford the men's event.

"A feature of the season was the riding of 38-year-old Ross Farr, a farmer from Aberthin, near Cowbridge.

"It was at this meeting that Fred Mathias' young son Richard rode his first winner, on the hooded Hampton Boy. Marion Thomas, who had ridden in point-to-points for 29 years, made history by becoming the first lady steward at a Welsh meeting since the Second World War.

"This was at Llanybri for the Carmarthenshire, where Farr landed a double with Underhill in the members' race, and East Of Eden in the maiden event.

"June Lewis scored a most unusual win on Boundtobe in the ladies' race at the Gelligaer Farmers' at Lower Machen when beating Fortcum and Mandryka." (In fact, it was so unusual that my story made the front page of the now long gone and lamented The Sporting Life; and not many point-to-point stories made the front page of that esteemed paper!)

I say unusual as earlier in the day, Boundtobe had run in the 1.30pm race at Chepstow! Mind you, he had only got as far as the third fence when his saddle slipped and he was pulled up. It was then the quick-thinking June Lewis got him smartly into his box, dashed home to Llanwern for her riding kit, then on to Lower Machen, just in time to declare him for the ladies' race due to start at 4.15pm.

No one was more surprised to see June than her husband Roger, who had watched the Chepstow race on a portable television set, before going out to ride Philborough in the men's open race.

It was a great shame that Sea Petrel, who won the maiden race at this meeting, did not stay in Wales, for two years later she won the Grimthorpe Cup, which is the only point-to-point run over four-and-a-half miles, at the Middleton fixture and is known as the point-to-point 'Grand National'.

The members' race was the best the Gelligaer Farmers had ever staged. First past the post was Herbert Gibbons' Vodka Cup, who scored from two other useful horses in Half-Holiday and Green Art V1.

Later on Vodka Cup met Fitz in a hunter chase at Hereford, and at an advantage of 10lbs beat him by two lengths.

Vodka Cup was ridden by Tim Rooney, who also that season won the Clive Memorial hunter chase over the same course on Mike Bishop's Devil's Walk.

With Green Art V1 in second place and Ronaheath in third, the race resulted in a clean sweep for Welsh horses.

Ronaheath, a nine-year-old old chestnut mare, was ridden by her owner, Derrick Llewellin. She could go a cracking gallop and during the season she scored seven times.

In a closely-fought contest for the Spillers South and West Wales Challenge Trophy she beat Mandryka, who also won seven races, by 27 points to 26. It was the place points that won the trophy for her.

Court Lad added another four wins to an already fine record, and in doing so bagged a course record for the Lydstep course. This came in the open race at the South Pembrokeshire,when he beat Ronaheath by a length, with East Of Eden a head away in third place, clocking five minutes 53 seconds.

The most improved horse of the season was Cyril Morgan's Canhe, who was by Cantab, a winner of the Triumph Hurdle. A hitherto wayward sort, Canhe in the hands of Tim Rooney won his final three starts.

The saddest moment of the season came at the Llangibby, at Howick, where the grey Indigo Jones, a 40-1 outsider ridden by Anthony Reid, died of heart failure after dead-heating with Devil's Walk in the open race.

The funniest incident occurred at south Pembrokeshire, when Hampton Boy, who was two fences clear in a farcical members' race, persisted in refusing to jump the last fence. But I doubt whether his rider Richard Mathias saw the funny side of it, or for that matter Hampton Boy's backers.

Barry Thomas had already pulled up his mount, Churchill Bridge, but seeing Richard's predicament joined back in the race, reaching the last fence in time to give Hampton Boy a lead over it. This he did, the only snag being that he took a tumble himself, which left Hampton Boy home and dry.

Mandryka, who had by now earned the tag 'Welsh Wonder', landed the 30th win of his career when finishing a distance ahead of Fortcum at the Glamorgan at St Hilary.

One rider who missed the season was John Llewellyn who broke his thigh when a horse he was schooling ran into a telegraph pole.

The Atoms edge out St Peters

THE weather was filthy for this game between Barry Atoms under-12s and St Peters Newport.

Firstly, a quick mention to Jamie who played for the opposition so they could field a side.

These boys and girl galvanised as a unit and those available stood up and were counted.

Jack Long tried to organise the side and looked like a captain, and from the battering rams of Owen, Rhys, Couchy, Fin and Ethan, who tried to soften them up, to the dogged determination of Iestyn, Eski, Meg, Mason, Adam and the speedsters that are Jack N, Daf, Jake and the safe hands and push of Jack L and Connor, the effort was impressive.

We started off as usual giving away the first try but we recovered and shone, showing what we are capable of.

The ball was played out from Daf to Jack, who passed to Connor, putting in Jack N who ran with all the assurance that he would not be caught. The conversion was missed but parity was restored, however St Peters scored again and didn't convert.

The second half was a back and forth affair, but a power play again showed what we could do, and Owen drove over last for the try, the conversion in front of posts kicked by Daf.

Barry darts league

IN the fixtures taking place on February 27, the Poachers had a convincing 17-4 win over the Runways, with Terry Overton hitting a 180.

The Cwm Talwg had a tense 11-10 away victory over the Dockers, while the BFC Allsorts battled to a narrow 11-10 win over the Park Weasels.

The Billy Ghosts beat the Mariners 12-9 and the Wanderers had a comfortable 15-6 away win over the Hell Raisers.

In rearranged games on March 6, the Cwm Talwg moved to the top of the league with another 11-10 win over the Dockers, with John Davies hitting a 180 during the game.

The Poachers are only one point behind with a game in hand after beating the Mariners 18-3. The Park Weasels travelled to the Caddy Cons Raiders and came away with a 17-4 victory, with Jon Kemp and Simon Rowley hitting 180s on the night.

Mixed results for Penarth hockey teams

PENARTH Hockey Club's 1st XI returned to familiar surroundings after two away games, but found little home comfort against the students of Bristol University, while a weakened seconds more than met their match against high-flying Llanishen & Caerphilly.

PENARTH 3 BRISTOL UNIVERSITY 'B' 3

Just three weeks ago, Penarth looked as though they may be involved in a battle to avoid relegation and remain in De Cymru & The Marches 1, but a hat-trick of wins and a draw in the last four games have all but guaranteed survival and taken some of the pressure off their remaining fixtures.

Nevertheless, having moved to fourth in the table, the Vale side obviously remains keen to cement as strong a finishing position as possible and, after leapfrogging Bristol University last weekend, knew that they couldn't afford to lose to the student side, with whom they drew 3-3 in the reverse fixture before Christmas.

After an end-to-end first encounter, the game started at a surprisingly slow tempo but, with only five minutes gone, Phil Lane intercepted a poor defensive pass and slotted home from the top of the 'D' to give Penarth the perfect start.

The home side was clearly the stronger in the opening passages of play, and really should have extended their lead before Bristol hit back on a rare foray into the Penarth 'D' and tied the game with a deflected goal that left goalkeeper Mark Harris with little chance.

Spurred by the setback, Penarth went up a gear and responded by scoring two quick goals before halftime, centre back Joseph Wells provided the catalyst, making an excellent run from deep in his own half before combining with Lane and smashing home via a hefty deflection.

With their tails up, Penarth continued to push forward, passing the ball nicely to create a couple of opportunities before Chris McCarthy finally added a third, slapping in a rebound after another nice Penarth build-up.

Two goals to the good at halftime, the Bears appeared to be cruising against a Bristol side that did not seem to be taking the game entirely seriously but, as has been the problem on more than one occasion this year, the home side started the second period sluggishly, allowing their opponents back into the game.

Penarth continued to control the game, but again failed to put the ball in the back of the net, with both the strikers and midfield guilty of some woeful finishing.

Despite the Vale side's dominance, the visitors remained a threat and increasingly caught their rivals on the break, leading to a more fraught finale than Penarth's defence would have wished for.

Despite some excellent last-gasp defending, notably from Gareth Hurman and James Davies, and a handful of very good saves from Harris, the students managed two late goals, one from another wicked deflection, to pull the game level and earn a draw that mirrored the result from the earlier fixture between the two sides.

Penarth will be disappointed to only draw a game they really should have won, but avoiding defeat kept them fourth in the division.

LLANISHEN & CAERPHILLY 'A' 5 PENARTH 'A' 0

Missing half their regular line-up owing to absences and the need to plug holes in the senior side, Penarth's 2nd XI was always going to be up against it as they travelled to Hawthorn to face off against a Llanishen & Caerphilly side that has occupied third spot in the table for much of the season.

Buoyed by the return of skipper Nick Pratt and with the contentious win over Carew having kept them in fifth place, Penarth were determined to get something out of the game in order to remain at the head of the 'division with a division' in De Cymru 2, but were left with a mountain to climb after conceding four first half goals.

With the one-sided scoreline not reflecting the pattern of play - with Matt Birch performing admirably as stand-in sweeper and Zbig Sobierierierski producing a typically solid display in the heart of the back four – Penarth refused to be bowed and took the game to their opponents after the interval.

Despite enjoying more possession in the second period, however, Penarth failed to take the few chances that came their way, and eventually conceded a fifth goal that did little to justify goalkeeper Jason Harris' efforts between the sticks.

Both teams agreed that the 5-0 result did not reflect that match as a whole and, as they had against Cardiff & Met, Penarth came away with an excellent all-round team performance having earned the respect of their rivals.

Kev's big bass!

FEBRUARY is traditionally a poor month off the shore and there hasn't been much to report at Seaview Lads.

The social side of the club is as active as ever, though. Already the social calendar is full, leaving little time for fishing but we eagerly await the incoming spring species when we shall be awash with flounders, ray, dogs and bass.

There may still be places going on the first boat trip of the season, so if you haven't already booked – hurry! Spring boat trips can be very productive.

Until the fish arrive, perhaps these snapshots will remind us why we fish.

Results

February 1: 1st, D Whitcombe – 3.480 kilo; 2nd, P Seaton – 3.140 kilo; 3rd, P Coles – 1.87 kilo; 4th, K Salah – 1.320 kilo; 5th, S Hinder – 1.295 kilo; 6th, A Harris – 0,590 kilo.

PRECIOUS WIN FOR COWBRIDGE RFC

LAST Saturday on a beautiful spring afternoon at the Athletic field Cowbridge took on Caerau Ely in a must win game for both sides with the visitors just one point ahead in the league.

The corresponding game at Trelai Park earlier in the season resulted in a 15-0 victory for the home side, so Cowbridge were seeking revenge.

Cowbridge started brightly with a good break from full back Tom Harrison followed by a great charge by prop Ben Worral into the 22 which should have led to a try.

With the Cowbridge pack on top, a penalty in front of the posts was missed and, as is often the case, the visitors were soon in the Cowbridge 22 and after a brace of penalties spun the ball out from a lineout and touched down under the posts for a converted try.

Cowbridge were soon back on the attack and good lineout ball from flanker Rhod Walker was driven on by the pack over the try line but disallowed for offside.

However, it was not long before Cowbridge were back on the attack as a loose kick from the visitors was collected by No.10 Luc Williams and spun out to Tom Harrison, who ghosted through the Caerau Ely defence to crash over for a sublime try, with centre Tom Sterling adding the conversion.

Despite both sides running the ball at every opportunity, there was no further score in the first half. Unfortunately, the end of the half was marred by a nasty leg injury to No.8 Luke Boys and we wish him a speedy recovery; Luke was replaced by Rhys Jones. The halftime score was Cowbridge 7, Caerau Ely 7.

The second half started very much as the first, with both sides attempting to run but what was particularly effective was the Cowbridge kicking out of hand from scrum half Huw Lougher, full back Harrison and fly half Williams, regularly turning the visitors'defence.

This paid dividends with good lineout ball from captain Matt Wright and fellow second row Alex Lewis. It wasn't long before Cowbridge were back on the scoreboard as the ball was spun out to centre Will Williams, who jinked through the defence from 30 metres to touch down for a fine try under the posts for Sterling to convert after just five minutes of the half.

Caerau attacked from the kick off but a Cowbridge steal from a lineout in the 22 saw the pack drive up the field and again the ball reached Will Williams, who sliced through the defence to glide over for his second try with very good curling conversion from Sterling to make it 21-7 with 30 minutes left.

Despite Cowbridge's supremacy it was Caerau who scored next with a converted try after 17 minutes. Despite this setback, Cowbridge were soon on the attack and several opportunities were missed.

Caerau had a chance to level the score with 10 minutes to go but spilled the ball, and Huw Lougher's clearance gave Cowbridge the breathing space they needed, and they were pressing for a fourth bonus point try when the final whistle went. Final score Cowbridge 21, Caerau Ely 14

So, Cowbridge move above Caerau Ely in the league table with this much-needed win. The boys played with great spirit throughout with the pack playing their best game of the season and the backs running and kicking with confidence. There are still crucial games to come but this victory will stand the boys in good stead.

There is now a break for the final two Six Nations weekends before we travel to Llandaff North on March 28, followed by Canton at home on April 4 and Llantwit Major away on April 11.

The youth travelled to Llanharan on Saturday for the semi-final of the cup against Penallta. Penallta are one of the strongest youth teams around and apparently have not lost a game for two years!

Despite this Cowbridge battled throughout and can be proud of having given Penallta a tough game. Final score Cowbridge 3, Penallta 27.

Finally a reminder that both Welsh games in the Six Nations will be shown at the club so come on down.

Cowbridge under-12s

Cowbridge under-12s bring home the silverware!

WITH an understrength squad of just 14 players (including one substitute), the Cowbridge under-12s travelled to the Chippenham tournament last Sunday, to compete against other teams mainly from English clubs.

Playing 13-a-side, on narrower pitches, with English rules (no hand-offs, competitive lineouts), it took the first match for the lads to adjust, and they recorded their one and only loss of the tournament in this game with some bemusing refereeing decisions going against them.

With a mobile pack, Cowbridge were determined to run the ball at all given opportunities, backed up with aggressive tackling, mauling and counter rucking.

The backs were able to play fast and loose throughout the pool games, gaining a place in the plate semi-final and then the final against a much fancied Hungerford team with an enormous pack.

This was a tight encounter with both sides determined to take the silverware. Cowbridge had the better of both halves, with the match finally decided by a well-worked, single try three minutes from the end. Cowbridge rallied and held back a strong counter attack to eventually run out well deserved final winners.

The boys can all be proud of their sterling effort, especially as a few (such as the front row) were in their first season of competitive rugby. Well done lads – we were all proud of your performance.

Big thanks to the coaches on the day - Rob and Rob (and Rich) and also all the parents that made the trip.

Squad: Sam Coates, James Davies, Louis Decaux, James Gilvear, Matthew Gilvear, Ellis Greenwood, Max Hall, Oliver Jarmaine, Charlie Locke, Tom O'Conner, Lucas Reid, Iwan Thomas-Bartle, Harry Whittaker, Rhys Williams.

Heavy win for the VIFC

PREDICTED to be a close encounter, VIFC proved too strong for Cogan Coronation, a side who pushed the league leaders to their limit back in September in a 4-3 VI win.

Club captain Jordan Mortimore has enjoyed a rich scoring record this season and quickly set his side up for a successful start. As designated penalty taker, Mortimore stepped up to score the first of many penalties in the match.

Within 10 minutes, Bill Laing's boys were two up as a scoring tug of war between Dean Cleave and Jordan Mortimore began. The second was Cleave's goal, beating teammate Richie Humphreys to Reece Lewis' corner cross and heading in his first of the game.

Heading into halftime, Mortimore was ahead on the scoresheet. The young striker's second was also a header, Mortimore nodding Humphreys' long ball over the advancing Cogan keeper.

Sean Flynn scored the VI's fifth goal which was met with a degree of contention by Cogan, before Jordan Mortimore made it three hat-tricks in two games after collecting his own rebound and firing low into the net. Cogan's defence were struggling and minutes later it was another penalty!

With three in the bag, Mortimore handed the reigns of penalty taker to Dean Cleave, who was still one goal away from his hat-trick after seeing an earlier goal ruled out for a foul on the keeper. Cleave stepped up and sent his spotkick past the keeper's left to make it 7-0.

With one eye on goal difference, the VI's pressed forward hoping to score as many as possible, Richie Humphreys bursting through Cogan's midfield and defence to set up yet another Cleave goal, the midfielder notching his fourth and overtaking Mortimore in the scoring - for now.

The VI's top scorer, with 47 goals in all competitions this season, Mortimore stepped up to take another penalty after the forward was brought down by two players. There was no way he was letting go of the ball for this one and scored his fourth of the match and VIFC's ninth.

A huge win that keeps the leaders eight points clear of Wenvoe Arms; the current second place outfit enjoyed a 5-0 win over Knap FC on Saturday and still have three games in hand.

This weekend, it's back one of the VI's cup quests as they face last year's silverware rivals Rhoose Rovers in the Supporter's Cup semi-final.

The game is in Rhoose on Saturday, kick-off at 2pm, and is the first time the two sides have met since Rhoose claimed last year's league title in May.

Thank you to the fans who cheered us on to victory on Saturday and to our sponsors who continue to support us in three competitions - Owens Motor Services, Llandow. Higgsy Site Services, Barry. The Three Horseshoes Inn, St Athan.

Away teams prosper in Cowbridge darts league

ON Tuesday, March 3 the first round matches in the Great Western Cup (GWC), a team knockout competition, took place.

The Old Post Ladies lost 1-2 to the Edmondes A, the Highwayman Inn lost 0-2 to Llanharry, the Farmers Arms lost 0-2 to the Edmondes C and the Hare and Hounds lost 0-2 to the Edmondes B.

So, in summary, not a good night for teams playing at home. This competition will conclude on May 5, when the semi-finals and final will be played at the Hare and Hounds.

Present league standings after 16 matches are: Llanharry (120 points), Edmondes B (93), Highwayman Inn (84), Edmondes A (74), Hare and Hounds (65), Farmer's Arms (59), Edmondes C (51) and Old Post Ladies (28).

On Tuesday, March 17, there is a full programme of league matches. The Edmondes B hosts the Highwayman Inn, the Hare and Hounds hosts the Old Post Ladies, the Farmers Arms hosts the Edmondes A and Llanharry hosts the Edmondes C.

All matches start at 8.15pm and spectators are welcome. For further information e-mail Paul at cowbridgedarts@gmail.com; up-to-date information can be found on the website: www.darts.apsn.co.uk.

LLANTWIT MAJOR UNDER-12S LEAVE IT TO THE LAST MINUTE!

LAST Sunday Llantwit Major under-12s traveled to a wet Brackla's Archbishop McGrath School fields to play Bridgend Sport, not Bridgend's normal ground of Newbridge Fields due to the flooded pitches.

The initial few minutes looked promising with some good runs from the Llantwit backs and controlled breakdown play from the forwards.

It was Connor Booker who eventually opened up the Sports defence from his fullback position. He collected the ball and charged through to make good yardage only to be cut short by some great tackling from Bridgend.

Again most of the play was from the forwards; both teams demonstrated good rucking and counter rucking but the larger Bridgend unit started to use their size to good use, gaining good yardage against Llantwit.

Llantwit's backs started to create good breaks cutting behind the Bridgend's game line, but poor handling errors and bad decision making in the wet conditions seemed to be the story of the day.

Eventually the first try had to come, and from a penalty to Llantwit Major Kofi Jones sucked in the defence; this allowed Kieran Daw to open up down the left flank to deliver the offload to Rian Thomas to score in the corner.

From the restart Bridgend came straight back forcing Llantwit to within meters of our own try line. Even with some strong tackles going in, Bridgend's well drilled forwards created a driving maul and charged over for their first try.

Llantwit Major seemed to press the self-destruct button and more handling errors and rash decision making gifted Bridgend their second try. From a scrum on Llantwit's five metre line the ball was carried back over the try line for it to be spilled and Bridgend dived on to it to make it 10-5.

With halftime looming, a scrum was awarded to Bridgend. The outside half collected and drove into the awaiting defenders, only to be held up. A maul was called and Bridgend's giant No8 drove in, ripping the ball and charged over Llantwit's try line. The conversion was completed to make it 17-5.

The second half started with Llantwit coming back strong but still squandering good chances to score by not using the overlap they had created.

The break Llantwit were looking for came from a well won ruck from the forwards, which allowed Cole Saunders to sprint towards the right hand side corner post. He was tackled by the Bridgend fullback but Cole gave a lovely inside pass to the supporting Kofi to dart in to score.

Bridgend weren't going to lie down and continued to attack the Llantwit Major defence until, after repeated warnings from the referee, Kofi Jones was sent to the sin bin for five minutes. This was for numerous high tackles from the Llantwit team.

Bridgend kept driving forward, pushing the defensive line to its limits, but a loose box kick was all that was needed for Cole to counterattack before passing to Ewan Heywood, who sprinted past the defence to score under the posts. The conversion was completed by Kieran Daw to draw the scores level at 17-17.

Neither team were gaining any advantage, and with the minutes ticking by a draw was the likely outcome. In the dying minutes Bridgend again forced their way into Llantwit's 22 but conceded a penalty for not releasing in a ruck.

The Llantwit forwards all lined up ready to receive the ball from scrum half Stephen Williams, but as he was about to pass it Kieran rushed in calling for the ball.

With the conversion completed by Kieran the score looked a bit healthier. The final whistle was blown and the boys again celebrated the win, final score 17-24.

Llantwit Major made it a hard day at the office with too many handling errors and wrong decisions but this showed how much it meant to them by the way they again dug deep and didn't give in.

Well done boys, the coaches and parents are proud of your determination. Thanks to Bridgend Sports' players and parents for their welcome and to our parents for their support on another wet Sunday morning.

LE

On and Off The Turf with BRIAN LEE

THE South Wales and Monmouthshire point-to-point season got underway last Saturday with the Brecon & Talybont fixture at sunny Llanfrynach and one person who was there to welcome it in was Joanna Morgan, probably the most famous horsewoman in the world.

Joanna, who used to ride in Welsh point-to-points before leaving her native Wales in 1974 to work for Irish trainer Seamus McGrath, has ridden and trained winners all over the world and was the first of her sex to ride at Royal Ascot, where she saddled Roca Tumu to win the 2013 Brittannia Handicap.

Joanna, who said she really enjoyed the afternoon's racing, saw Welsh champion rider John Mathias bag a hat-trick with Champagne Benefit (members), Rosies Peacock (men's open) and Desertmore View (restricted).

Champagne Benefit, who is by Beneficial, made it three wins in a row when finishing alone after sole rival Kerry Mganga had been pulled-up. The prolific Rosies Peacock held on by a length to beat Tiger Rag, partnered by Richard Patrick, and Rachel Hooton's Desertmore View, who made all the running to clock the day's fastest time, had 12 lengths to spare over the favourite Minellacelebration.

Desertmore View, who is trained by Marc Barber, could be aimed at the Dunraven Bowl Novices' Hunter Chase at Chepstow on April 24.

Bridgend builder Roger Willcox had plenty to smile about. Patricktom Boru, which he owns in partnership with his friend Bill Corrigan, won the confined under Evan David and his Lauberhorn, a five times winner last season, took the ladies' open with regular pilot Anna Metekohy in the saddle.

Patricktom Boru, given a good ride by his rider, won by two lengths from Medicinal Compound after the odds-on Harpsy Cord (John Mathias), the early leader, had taken a dislike to the open ditch on both circuits.

A mistake three from home by Chesnut Annie didn't help her chances in the ladies' open race, and at one time, when leading four fences from the finish, it looked like Highly Unlikely would go on to win.

But by the time the last fence was reached, Lauberhorn was back in the lead and went on to score by five lengths.

Chesnut Annie's owner/trainer Beth Roberts had some consolation when taking the first division of the open maiden with her seven-year-old bay mare Kims Quest, who, ridden by Darragh Skelly, won by 10 lengths from the favourite Milaneen.

Ogmore's Nick Williams landed the second division on Chris Williams' Fire Sale, who came home four lengths in front of Tunnel Vision. Fire Sale is trained by former rider Dean Coleman at Amroth in Pembrokeshire.

TIM'S 14-1 WINNER

A 14-1 outsider, Tanit River won by four-and-a-half lengths from the favourite Brave Helios and was ridden by Alan Johns.

TUDOR REIGNS

Last Saturday, Cowbridge's James Tudor, riding Brians Well, won the restricted race at the Kingston Blount Racing Club Point-To-Point Steeplechase at Kingston Blount.

Brians Well, the odds-on favourite, was the only one of the eight runners to complete the course. Meanwhile, at Chepstow Racecourse, Evan Williams saddled the strongly fancied Timesawastin to win the novices' chase.

Timesawastin, who was ridden by stable jockey Paul Moloney, won by 12 lengths from Quite By Chance.

It's a busy week of action for the Barry chess teams

AFTER only having just one match last week, it was back to normal this week with each Barry Chess Club team playing.

On Monday, the Bosons were at home to the Cardiff Bishops. Both of these teams are normally in the mix for the title, but this year they are both a little off the pace, so perhaps it was no surprise that the game ended in a 2.5 to 2.5 draw.

While the Bosons remain in fourth place and the Bishops in sixth, neither of them are in danger of relegation but can have an influence in who wins the title as they both have to play the North Cardiff Woodpushers who currently sit in third place.

Also on Monday the Quarks entertained the Cardiff Crowns in a division 3 encounter. In the previous week, the Quarks had moved up the table with a 3.5 to 1.5 victory over the Rhondda Spitfires.

This time the match was even closer but with two wins, two draws and only one defeat the Quarks had a hard-earned narrow victory that has moved them up to second in the table, only very narrowly ahead of the three Cardiff teams.

With games to play against table-topping Bridgend and the other two Cardiff teams, the promotion battle is likely to go to the wire.

On Tuesday, for the second time in three weeks, we sent two teams away to north Cardiff. The Camelots took on the Woodpushers in a vital championship clash in the upstairs auditorium, while the Gambits played the youngsters in the Panthers team in the dimly-lit lounge.

With three draws and two wins, the Camelots won this interesting match to move to within a point of the Cardiff Castles. In Matthew Davies' fourth game for the Barry club, this was the first time he had failed to record a victory – still a draw wasn't a bad result either.

The Panthers had only one player who was older than a teenager, and this was a match when it was an advantage to have the black pieces.

However the youngsters fully deserved their 4-1 win as their ratings were at least the equal of ours. The Gambits have now dropped to seventh in the bottom division.

There is a big margin between ourselves and the clubs below us so we can only really move upwards if we start to pick up points.

The Barry Chess Club meets at 7.30pm each Monday at the West End Club St. Nicholas Road, Barry CF62 6QY. The club is open to players of all standards, whether you are interested in playing competitive chess or just the occasional friendly games.

New players are very welcome to just turn up on the night but if you contact one of the club members through the website we can explain what is happening on the night you have in mind, and arrange for someone to greet you on your arrival.

PHIL JONES

Wolves too sharp for Lions

ON a bright and warm March morning, Dinas Wolves under-12s put in a very solid performance with some very good team and individual goals against Park Lions.

The team were keeping the ball moving throughout the home side, and looked to switch play from right to left as fast as they could. When the opportunity was on the fullbacks could overlap and midfield flood the box.

It was pleasing to see the lads respond in the manner they did, but late on the game lost its shape and credit to the young Park Lions' keeper who pulled off some great saves.

Not a gr-eight week for local hockey team

WOTTON-UNDER EDGE 8 PENARTH 1

On their travels once again, Penarth were always up against it facing De Cymru & The Marches 1 league leaders Wotton-under-Edge, but weren't helped by having a bare 11 players.

The Vale side started the game with only 10 men as Chris McCarthy was late arriving and, unsurprisingly, found themselves two goals down within minutes.

Once McCarthy had arrived, however, Penarth were only briefly allowed up to full strength as Dave Stevens was caught by a Wotton striker's follow-through, causing a nasty cut to his forehead. Due to the heavy flow of blood from the gash, the veteran was forced to remain on the sidelines for the remainder of the game.

Despite the early deficit and permanently being reduced to 10 men, Penarth played some good hockey and were unfortunate not to have scored before the interval, with the Wotton keeper making some outstanding saves, notably from a Chris Baker drag flick.

The home side eventually made their extra man count, however, and added another two first half goals to double the margin by halftime.

Although clearly at a disadvantage, Penarth refused to go quietly and kept applying pressure at the Wotton end, looking for a consolation goal. Their endeavours were nearly rewarded when McCarthy was fouled in the area, leading to the award to a penalty stroke. However, Matt Lewis - in his penultimate match for the club and having never scored for the Bears – promptly missed.

Wotton added another three goals before Penarth finally managed to pull one back, with Baker driving forward and smashing a reverse stick shot into the bottom corner – much to the frustration of the Wotton 'keeper, who saw his dreams of a clean sheet dashed despite getting a touch on the ball. The home side responded by adding an eighth goal late on, however, repeating their haul from the reverse fixture earlier in the season.

Despite the loss, Penarth remain fourth in the standings as other results went their way, and will hope to consolidate their position in their remaining two matches.

PENARTH 'A' 0 WHITCHURCH 'D' 5

Although restored to something approaching full strength for the visit of the best of the four Whitchurch sides in De Cymru 2, Penarth's 2nd XI also had a fight on their hands given the gulf between the leading quartet and the rest of the teams in the division.

Locked in a three-way battle for fifth overall – and therefore top spot in the 'division within a division' – Penarth knew that their position would be strengthened by anything other than defeat, and began resolutely, with a strong defensive effort, led by Zbig Sobiersiersierski and Graeme Jones, frustrating the Whitchurch forwards for much of the first half.

Knowing that a quick response after the break was essential to getting a result, Penarth threw everything into going forward, with Rob Harrison and the industrious Nathan Townsend trying to keep things flowing through the midfield to the various attacking combinations provided by Dave Watkins, Matt Birch and Sam Salisbury.

Few chances emanated, however, and, with the field having opened up, Whitchurch were able to take advantage of always seeming to have a spare man in both attack and defence.

Despite the ongoing defensive efforts of James Davies, Paul Roberts and Nick Pratt, four further goals followed for the visitors, creating a five-goal margin of victory that did little justice to Penarth's labours.

Although the defeat drops the Vale side one place off their desired finishing spot, they remain level on points with fifth place and an interesting series of fixtures over the final two weeks of the season still provides a real opportunity to clinch the position.

This weekend sees the 1st XI play their last competitive fixture at Colcot Leisure Centre as they host Whitchurch 'B', while the seconds travel across town hoping to complete a Penarth double as they face Whitchurch 'F'.

Penarth Hockey Club always welcomes new, old and returning players, umpires, supporter s, friends and helpers regardless of age and ability. Training takes place on the artificial turf at Barry Sport Centre every Wednesday, with the juniors in action between 6-7pm and seniors between 7-8pm.

VALE REDS PICK UP SILVERWARE

ON a very wet and windy Sunday in Skewen, the Vale Reds disability football team took part in a festival, and for the second time in three years came away with silverware from the tournament.

This time it was the A team that were too strong for the opposing teams and ended up being undefeated in the competition. The team played very well and they managed to play their own game by having a strong midfield player in Ibby Hassan, who scored in every game which gave him the player of the tournament for the Champions League section.

There were also strong performances from rest of the A team especially Kerian Anderson in goals, who pulled of some lovely saves and with the help of James Clarke and Nick Latham staying strong at the back they managed to keep the goals conceded to a minimum.

However, the goals flowed for the Vale Reds with Chloe McBratney, Lewis Overton and Adam Davies all getting on the scoresheet with a very strong and organised display.

The B team also competed and had a bit of a bad start with a loss to Claddau Warriors which was going to be their downfall at the end as all the teams in their group won two and lost one.

After looking at the goal difference the B team lost out by one goal to stop them going into the final.

Yet again there was strong performances from everyone especially Josh Hill and Josh Watkins, who had been promoted into the team, for their attitude and hard work in training.

Josh Hill scored a hat trick and one of the goals was a lovely volley into the right hand side of the goal that left the goalkeeper standing, and with the captain Mark Eveleigh commanding his team at the back, they stayed strong to win two games thanks to some good work by the goalkeeper, Liam Vanstrone.

The Vale Reds would like to thank Harp Rovers AFC for putting on such and good tournament - it was well run and all from the Vale Reds had a good day.

The Vale Reds is the longest running disability football club in the Vale and this year celebrates 10 years as a team this year; if you are interested in playing or would like to sponsor the club in any way please contact Neil Latham on 07827 334818.

BARRY SECONDS ARE PIPPED BY CLWB RYGBI

BARRY 2nd XV finally returned to action following disruptions due to opposition dropping out, inclement weather and the Six Nations tournament, with their visitors Clwb Rygbi.

ABOVE and RIGHT: Barry seconds were back in action against Clwb Rygbi, and HOWARD POOLE was there to capture the action.

Coach Rhidian Scott and manager Ken Chow handed a debut to Neil Bragg for his first game of rugby in his career. There were also recalls for Josh Flynn, Adam Lee and Kyle Case, with Tom Poole in the unfamiliar role of scrum-half.

The disruptions to the team were reflected in the early exchanges as Barry struggled to have any fluency in attack.

It was only some superb defending, led by captain Lee Jones and his back row partner John Miles, that prevented the away side from opening the scoring.

Instead, it was Barry who troubled the scorers first, as Lee intercepted a Clwb Rygbi move, before running the full length of the pitch to be stopped just short of the line.

His timely offload, however, found the supporting Rhys Knapman who touched down for the try. Lee failed to add the extras.

The visitors replied with more sustained pressure and responded with an unconverted try to level the scores and seemed to have the upper hand in open play.

Barry, however, had complete domination at scrum time and frequently disrupted the CRCC feed. This allowed the home side to retrieve possession and gain some territory, and from a quick-tap penalty, the opportunistic Joel Williams broke through to score under the posts; Williams' conversion was a formality.

Lee further increased the home lead with a well-struck penalty, and just before halftime, Dave Williams scavenged possession in his own half, outpacing the visiting defence to score in the corner. Lee failed to add the extras to make the halftime score 20-5.

The second interval, however, was a completely different story. With the elements to their advantage, and the home players visibly wilting in the sun due to lack of match fitness, CRCC piled on the pressure and scored two quick tries to bring themselves back within three points of Barry.

The green-and-whites had no answer to the away side's onslaught as tackles were missed and defensive shape broken. Another away try meant that the visitors were now in the lead, 24-20.

Barry struck back late on, as a quickly taken penalty in a rare foray into the opposition's 22 saw the ball spread to Jason Thomas, who crashed over under the posts. Lee's conversion made it 27-24.

Barry were unable to hold out in the dying minutes, however. A comedy of errors in handling a long, hopeful kick saw CRCC regain the lead, before a well-worked move ended up with another converted try to take the game beyond the hosts, the final score 38-27.

The management will hope that this game will have given some much needed match fitness to a number of players who have not donned the jersey for the past few weeks, and the 2nd XV will have to be at their best for their next encounter on Tuesday, March 24, kick-off 7pm at Cardiff Arms Park, with Rhiwbina their next visitors in the league four days after.

Team: Lee; Knapman, D Williams, Evans, Bragg; J Williams, Poole; Thomas, Turnbull, Corne; Flynn, Dutton; Jones ©, Miles, Rolfe. Replacements: Ring, Westall, Case, Evans, Provis. Man of the match: Bragg. KC

Last minute heartbreak for Sully Sports

Sully Sports lost 27-28 against Ferndale, in a tight match in the sunshine.

From the kick off this game was set to be entertaining after the sides' last game turned out to be a close encounter.

Both sides had to dig deep in defence with no quarter given, and strong tackles from Adam Wheeler and Scott Mills ensured Ferndale had to work hard for their tries.

Jake Williams kept everyone on the toes and ensured Sports kept edging forward, finished off with Sports driving the scrum over from five meters and Harry Moyle getting on the scoreboard.

With the sun beating down the second half started much as the first, both sides trying everything to gain a score.

All players stepped up to the mark and started doing what they do best, putting pressure on the opposition and it showed with a well worked try for Lee Walters, after some great interlinking between all players.

However, not to be outdone, Ferndale soon mounted a few attacks of their own and put points on the board, but Sports soon replied with what was the last phase of play Alex Szuchnik crashing over.

On the conversion the referee said there was two minutes left, so Sports gathered the restart and cleared their lines.

However Ferndale showed why they have come so far this season by throwing everything at Sports and with time up, they stole the ball and manage to score under the posts, and with the conversion made the final score 27-28.

Another losing bonus point keeps Sports firmly in third, with the next league game being away to league leaders Llandridnod Wells on April 4 - it's hoped a coach will be arranged.

Sports continue to grow and training is going well, working on new ideas and playing structures, which take time to embed. Anyone looking to join a new club should come along to training or contact the club, all standards welcome.

WALES POISED TO BURST GREEN BUBBLE

...and as that Irish comic genius Frank Carson might have said:

'It's going to be a craic-er!'

BIG MATCH PREVIEW
by Don John

THERE is something extra special about a Wales v Ireland clash that never fails to quicken the blood of players and supporters alike – long accustomed to seeing sparks fly when the two Celtic cousins put aside their usual close camaraderie for 80 minutes of mayhem – with some memorable 'tear-ups' over the years!

It all began on January 28, 1882 at Lansdowne Road, Dublin. Wales won that Home Nations opener and the next two, but the Irish soon found their feet and the now familiar pattern of close-fought contests and narrow outcomes emerged, with little to choose between the sides up to the 1970s 'golden era', when Wales won five on the trot.

In the '80s, it again levelled out, but in the '90s the pendulum swung the Irishmen's way. Incredibly, they have now won 16 out of the 23 games between the two since 1995 (including a record 54-10 victory in 2002).

Wales have triumphed on only seven occasions – which would not seem to augur well as the fancied Irish descend on an expectant Millennium Stadium this Saturday, in search of a rare Grand Slam.

However, bare statistics hardly convey the true picture of intense, evenly-contested games that more often than not could have swung either way.

To put this in context, overall Wales have won 65 of the 120 fixtures to Ireland's 49, with six matches drawn; and have amassed 1,401 points compared to Ireland's 1,304 total.

Moreover, while the Six Nations favourites have tasted success in Cardiff with 19 wins (just as the Dragon has done even more dramatically in Dublin, with 27 wins to Ireland's 28), they certainly cannot afford to be over-confident, with Wales having won 35 of the 56 match-ups on home soil and scoring 735 points to Ireland's 537.

So the stage is set for yet another epic showdown between proud Celtic rivals that has all the fascinating ingredients in place for what could well turn out to be the game of the championship.

After a lacklustre Welsh team lost to England and struggled against a rebuilding Scotland side that has since fallen to Italy, the high-flying Irish, having disposed of Italy, France and then England (in what some media pundits had prematurely billed as the Six Nations title decider), could have been forgiven for thinking the path was almost clear to their third Grand Slam.

If so, the emphatic Welsh victory in Paris will have changed their thinking and they now know they are facing a suddenly re-awakened Red Dragon, who will represent a decidedly more formidable (and familiar) proposition.

Indeed, the Irish camp have already acknowledged that this will be their toughest test to overcome in pursuit of the Six Nations title.

They will be buoyed by recent victories over Wales that include last year's 26-3 mauling at the Aviva stadium and the 30-22 win in Cardiff in 2013, as well as their cliff-edge win in 2009 at the Millennium Stadium.

It saw them achieve only their second Grand Slam in 67 years, when Stephen Jones' last gasp penalty attempt from halfway fell-agonisingly short of the crosssbar (fittingly, sitting in the crowd that day was Ireland's legendary Dr Jack Kyle, star of the 1948 triumph, who sadly has since passed on).

However, there are growing signs that a Welsh fuse which is notoriously slow to burn, is poised to burst into flame in this penultimate match of the Six Nations, and stake Wales' own claim to the championship title.

The players were given a vote of confidence on Tuesday, when head coach Warren Gatland, who had not hesitated to make four changes in Paris to the team that won in Scotland, this time announced an unchanged line-up against Ireland.

It will be captained for a record 34th time by Sam Warburton.

Gatland said that the team had been disappointing against England in the first match of the tournament and changes had had to be made.

Two tough away matches had seen a step up in performance, but he admitted that far more would be required against the confident men in green.

"They are the form team in Europe and we know it's going to be a huge battle," he admitted.

The Welsh camp is fully aware that Ireland's strategic kicking game revolves around their in-form halfbacks – in particular, the talismanic Jonny Sexton, now declared fit after nursing a hamstring injury. How Wales deal with this twin threat will be the key factor.

Last weekend, the Welsh regions gave a timely, if unexpected, lift to national team morale by defeating all four Irish provinces for the first time in the Pro12.

Their success may be a happy omen and come Saturday evening, Warren Gatland's Wales could well be celebrating a full house – in more ways than one!

NETBALL

In the Year 7 Vale netball tournament Cowbridge were first to take to the court against Bro Morgannwg.

Cowbridge started strong and took the lead in the opening seconds with a lovely shot from Ellie.

The girls worked hard and passed well around the court. Excellent movement and passes in and out of the circle made it possible for Alexa and Ellie to extend their lead. Final score 5-0 to Cowbridge.

The start of the game was very even with both teams having their fair share or attacking play. Both teams were defending excellently which prevented both teams from scoring in the first minutes of the game. Stanwell began to put more pressure on the defence and managed to get a shot.

It was 1-0 and the girls were determined to equalise to keep themselves in the game. An excellent interception by Amelie provided them with an opportunity to attack again and score the equalising goal.

The tension was high with only a minute left on the clock. Both teams were fighting for every ball but Stanwell took their opportunity and scored in the last seconds of the game. Final score 2-1 to Stanwell.

Cowbridge then faced off against Llantwit Major.

This was a very strong game by Cowbridge, the passing and attacking play was very good. Llantwit had a very good defence which slowed down our attack in the circle.

Both teams were defending very well, which stopped the attackers from shooting. Cowbridge took the lead with two excellent goals from Alexa and Ellie. Final score 2-1 to Cowbridge.

St Richard Gwyn was the girls' last game of the tournament and it was going to be a tough game. The game time had been reduced in order to finish on time, meaning the girls had to be quick and strong from the start.

St Richard Gwyn started strong and took the lead early in the game. Cowbridge were attacking strong but they struggled to take their changes in the shooting circle.

Both teams were playing well and intercepting one anothers passes making it a close game. Final score 3-1 to St Richard Gwyn.

The year-7 netball team then took part in the Cardiff and Vale County netball preliminary tournament at Talybont University.

Cowbridge were drawn in a pool with Bro Edern, Corpus Christi, Whitchurch and Cathedral School.

In the first match Cowbridge faced the seeded team Bro Edern, Bro Edern won 5-2. Player of the match was awarded to Alexa Browning.

Next up were Whitchurch School where Cowbridge won convincingly 10-2, player of the match Amelie Clode.

Overall Bro Edern won, Corpus Christi came second and Cowbridge third. Well done to all the girls.
